U. S. Bombers Smash Italian Island Bases

Russian Front Erupts Again

Fighting Rages Around Novorossisk As Yanks Spread Devastation In Pantelleria, Sardinia, Sicily.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Reuters reported a German news agency dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio tonight as saying that German troops, yielding before a Soviet offensive, had evacuated a strip of the Kuban bridgehead several miles wide and a mile and a half deep.

(By Associated Press)

Pounding home the Allied warning to Italy to get out of the war before the final storm breaks, the U. S. bomber fleet in northwest Africa unloosed savage new attacks on Axis island bases in the Mediterranean as the Russian front, stirred to violent action on some sectors, provided signs the decisive days of 1943 are near.

Flying Fortresses again led the assaults on the Italian islands of Sicily, Sardinia and Pantelleria, spreading new fires and devastation on the great Axis air base at Comiso, Sicily, already scarred by many earlier visits. Medium bombers raked other Sicilian strongholds.

American fighter planes lugged bombs to Sardinia and dropped them on shipping targets amid sprays of cannon and machine-gun fire, setting one Axis supply ship afire with a direct hit at Golfo Aranci. Villacidro airfield was hit again and bombs fell on hangars, barracks and aircraft on the ground, an Allied communique said. The power station at Tirso received a direct hit.

Other Warhawks kept the tiny, isolated island of Pantelleria under fire.

Both German and Russian reports told of an outbreak of furious fighting in the Kuban valley bridgehead around Novorossisk, where the Germans clung grimly to their last foothold in the Caucasus throughout the winter's battles, and the Germans said the Red army was in action far to the north.

The Russians announced 67 German planes had been shot down in air battles northeast of Novorossisk as the Red army beat back two battalions of Germans storming Russian positions. The German reports gave the impression that even heavier fighting was to be expected in this area and claimed 63 Russian planes were shot down yesterday.

The most interesting German report was the radio announcement the Russians had forced the main Nazi defenses southwest of Velikie Luki, only 90 miles from

Week's Pay Takes Place of Vacation At Plant In City

Under a vacation plan which is expected to attract considerable attention in Mansfield war plants, the Art Rattan Works, Inc., today announced that company employes will receive an extra week's pay this year but will be asked to work straight through the summer without time off.

The plant has closed down for a week during recent summers to give all employes a vacation at the same time, but to do that this year would seriously delay the production of essential war materials, Ralph A. Shelton, vice president, said.

"In view of the labor shortage and the large amount of materials we are required to turn out, we decided to eliminate vacations entirely this year," he said. "If we closed down now the war department probably would complain immediately."

To compensate workers for forfeiting their vacations, Shelton said all employes who are on the company payroll June 1 and continue through Sept. 15 will get a week's pay in addition to his regular earnings. Approximately 100 employes are expected to be affected by the plan.

OPA Official Sees Driving Ban Extension To Save Autos.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The entire nation may eventually be brought under the pleasure driving ban already in force in the east, "but if that should happen, it probably would be to save automobiles rather than tires or gasoline," L. R. Cox, district conservation officer of the Office of Price Administration, said today.

"The time is approaching when we will have a good stock of synthetic rubber tires, but we won't have cars on which to put them," he said.

OPA MANAGER

Maxon Favored as Shake-Up Looms In Price Agency.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Lou R. Maxon, head of a Detroit advertising agency who has been serving without compensation as chief information officer of the Office of Price Administration, is being considered for the new post of "general manager" of OPA, reliable sources said today.

If he accepts, the appointment will be among drastic changes in OPA personnel, policy and operations to be announced soon.

Unless last-minute changes occur, it was understood, the new program may be revealed within 48 hours. Fewer regulations, simplification of those already in force and stricter enforcement of the entire price and rationing operation are expected.

American Officers Fight--and Die

TO a bullet, a general and a private look alike. In this war the generals must be in the forefront of the fighting—and the casualty rate among general officers is heavy.

Not since the Civil War have there been so many casualties among American general officers. In the 19 months in which we fought World War I, there were six casualties among general officers, only one of whom, Brig. Gen. Edward Sigerfoos, died. In this war 38 U.S. generals and admirals have been listed as dead, wounded or prisoners thus far.

Nine generals and five admirals have been killed.

The highest was Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, killed in a plane crash in Iceland with his aide, Brig. Gen. C. H. Barth.

The other generals belonged to the Army Air Forces. Maj. Gen. Herbert A. Dargue in December, 1941, and Brig. Gen. Harold H. George, in April, 1942, lost their lives in airplane accidents en route to battle stations. Missing and presumed dead are Maj. Gen. Clarence L. Tinker, off Midway, June, 1942; Brig. Gen. Asa N. Duncan, off the European coast, November, 1942; Brig. Gen. Kenneth A. Walker and Howard K. Ramey, in the Southwest Pacific since early 1943. Brig. Gen. Alfred J. Lyon died of pneumonia incurred in action.

The Navy's casualty list includes three killed by the Japanese: Rear. Adm. Isaac C. Kidd, aboard his flagship at Pearl Harbor, Rear Adms. Normal Scott and Daniel J. Callaghan, in the Battle of the Solomons. The Pacific submarine commander, Rear Adm. Robert H. English, died in a plane crash. Rear Adm. John W. Wilcox was swept overboard.

DISAGREE OVER TAX AGREEMENT

Conferees Meet To Decide What They Decided About Pay-Go.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va.), leaving the senate-house pay-as-you-go tax conference, said today the conferees had decided that taxpayers should not be given a $50 deduction in addition to 75 per cent abatement of one year's taxes.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The senate-house pay-as-you-go conferees disagreed today as to details of what they had agreed upon, and a special session was called to determine whether some 35,000,000 taxpayers would get a $50 deduction from a year's tax bill in addition to a 75 per cent abatement.

When the conferees announced a compromise agreement Tuesday, a spokesman said the measure provided cancellation of a whole year's personal income tax liability for taxpayers owing $50 or

WHERE AND HOW TO MAIL FORMS

OPA Explains Regulations On Ration Applications.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration said today all persons living in Ohio should return their application for Ration Book No. 3 to Columbus.

Some persons, it was pointed out, are mailing to such points as Louisville, Ky., and Indianapolis.

The OPA added that persons already mailing applications actually were disregarding instructions. No forms should be returned before June 1, and all should be in by June 10. All persons must use forms sent them in the mails.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The Franklin county council of civilian defense announced today that more than 1,000 persons had offered their services to assist in the mail-out of war ration book No. 3.

OPA officials said last night that more than 500,000 applications for the ration books had been received up to last night.

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAMS SET

Cemetery Service, Parade and Exercises at Charles Mill Lake Highlight Events.

Plans had been completed today for Memorial services Sunday in Mansfield and at the Charles Mill lake where a special marine service will be conducted before the Mansfield ceremonies.

The Mansfield ceremonies will open at 10:30 a. m. Sunday with the placing of emblems and wreaths on veterans' graves at Mansfield cemeteries. At 11 a. m. a brief service will be conducted by the American Legion at the Doughboy monument in Central park.

Ringing of the old fire bell in Central park by Fire Chief C. J. Seeburger will signal the opening of the afternoon service at 2 p. m. A parade in which bands and patriotic and veterans' organizations will participate will move from Park avenue west and Mulberry street at 2:15 p. m.

The line of march will be east on Park avenue to the park, around the north side of the park to Diamond street and south on Diamond street to the cemetery.

PROPOSES CITY GARAGE TO END PARKING JAMS

SETS UP PROGRAM

Declares He'll Take Plan To Chamber of Commerce and City Councilmen.

Construction of a 1,000-car parking garage in the Mansfield downtown area in a post-war program to relieve traffic and parking congestion was proposed today by Frend C. Boals, city traffic commissioner.

Boals said he had been considering the plan for several months and has decided it would afford the best solution for the traffic problem which is expected to become more serious as additional cars go into use after the war.

To help finance the project which might cost at least $100,000 the city will have to retain its parking meter fund surplus and add more to it from meter revenue, the traffic commissioner said.

He said he would take his proposal before the Chamber of Commerce, asking for its support, and later would submit his plan to city council. The $31,000 surplus in the parking meter fund "is only a part of the money the city needs to set up a traffic plan to meet its future needs," Boals said. He advocated building a surplus while revenue is available so the work can be done after the war.

Under Boals' plan, a city garage to house possibly 1,000 cars would be erected on a convenient downtown location where motorists could park an hour for 10 cents without worrying about getting a parking ticket. The convenient location would enable them to reach stores easily during the day and theaters and other amusements at night.

He mentioned the United Presbyterian church site at Third and Mulberry streets as an ideal location for a garage. When the first garage proved its value and more funds were Legion Denounces 'Mission To Moscow' as Totalitarian.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The film "Mission to Moscow" was condemned today by the executive committee of the Ohio American Legion as "totalitarian propaganda for mass consumption."

Although stressing that "it is desirable in the present emergency that a spirit of co-operation exist between Soviet Russia and the United States," the executive committee called upon Legion National headquarters to "do everything in your power to offset the damage to Americanism being done by the use of this film."

Martin B. Coffeey, Middletown, Ohio department commander, is ex-officio chairman of the executive committee.

Workers Meet Deadline Set By FDR Order

Trickle Back to Jobs Beginning at 6 A. M. With Full Shifts Expected At Machines This Afternoon; President Lashes Stoppage.

(By Associated Press)

AKRON—CIO unionists ended strikes at three major Akron rubber companies today, complying with the noon deadline set in a presidential ultimatum concerning a five-day production stoppage that threw more than 50,000 into idleness.

A small shift returned to war jobs at the B. F. Goodrich company just as the deadline approached after United Rubber Workers unionists there decided to observe the commander-in-chief's order.

The back-to-work movement started earlier at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and the Firestone Tire and Rubber company employes straggled into the plants throughout the morning and six hours after the first men reported on the 6 a. m. (EWT) shift, Firestone guards estimated 50 per cent of the force was on the job.

A company spokesman who declined use of his name said about 2,000 reported at the beginning of the first shift at Goodyear, and others straggled into the plants for several hours. General Tire and Rubber company reported a full working force on the job.

Only a few employes entered the Goodrich gates until after a 10 a. m. meeting of the company's day shift workers. George H. Bass, president of the Goodrich local, announced the men decided to resume production at once. The meeting also approved a June 16 deadline for reconsideration by the War Labor Board of a wage decision that touched off the stoppage.

Union leaders said they expected full shifts to report at 2 p. m. at all four plants. A Goodyear spokesman indicated normal operations could not be resumed immediately, however, asserting it would take "all day and a good part of tomorrow to balance up our production."

After urging Goodrich workers to return to their jobs, Bass de-

MACHINISTS TO BREAK WITH AFL

565,000 Members of Union Will Withdraw Because of Jurisdiction Row.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Harvey W. Brown of the International Association of Machinists announced today that his union, with a membership of 565,000, will terminate Monday its 48-year affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

The withdrawal climaxes a 30-year jurisdictional dispute of the Machinists with the Carpenters' union, the Operating Engineers union, and the Electric Railway Employes of America.

Brown told a press conference the situation has "now become intolerable."

He said the union had been unable to get satisfaction from AFL President William Green or the AFL executive council.

He quoted a letter to Green in which he said the union was taking the step "with sincere regret" and emphasized:

"However, in leaving the American Federation of Labor, we are firmly resolved to continue one of the traditional policies of the International Association of Machinists—to respect the jurisdiction of and co-operate with the bona fide trade unions who respect our jurisdiction."

PAPERS TO LIST GROCERY PRICES

OPA To Provide Monthly Data on Fair Charges.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration has decided to supply to newspapers monthly lists of official prices and required ration points for groceries, a proposal that won the immediate endorsement of the Committee of Newspaper Groups.

OPA outlined the plan yesterday at a meeting with publishers and their spokesmen, and said the newspapers could solicit advertising and build up special sections or pages around the information.

The lists will go out to about 300 cities, beginning July 1.

Commending rubber workers' union officials in Akron for ordering tire plant employes to return to their jobs, Desmond Walker, president of Mansfield Local 17 of the United Rubber Workers of America, today sent a telegram to Sherman Dalrymple, Akron, international president of the United Rubber workers, in which he said that "it is only through such action as yours that labor unions can survive and that we may win the war as well as the peace."

Walker, an employe of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, said the message was sent on the recommendation of the executive board of Local URW which met last night.

CHURCH REPLIES

Denounces Nazi Broadcast as Purposeless Propaganda.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The office of war information reported today that the Vatican radio had denounced as "propaganda" an assertion by the Nazi-controlled Paris radio last Sunday that the Catholic church had a "crushing responsibility in unleashing the present war."

The Vatican broadcast, which the OWI said was in the German language and directed to the German people, declared it was "impossible to see" how such assertions could be useful "even for purposes of propaganda," but added:

"One thing is certain—it is not the Vatican which has declared this war and it is not the Catholic church in Germany which has brought this, her fate, upon herself. Everyone knows that."

Stimson Reveals U. S. Losses In North Africa.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—American army casualties in North Africa from Nov. 8 to May 15 totalled 2,184 killed, 9,437 wounded and 6,937 missing or prisoners, Secretary of War Stimson said today.

Total Allied casualties in the Tunisian campaign, including British and French figures not reported in detail, were "less than 70,000," Stimson said. By contrast he said, the Axis lost 30,000 killed, 26,400 wounded and 266,000 prisoners.

ATTORNEY APPOINTED

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker today appointed Robert H. Hoffman, a Columbus attorney, to the chairmanship of the state board of tax appeals.

Hungry for Spuds? There'll Be Plenty for Sale by June 15

If you've been among hundreds of Mansfielders who have gone potato-hungry in the last several weeks due to high prices and the scarce supply, here's good news.

There'll be plenty of new potatoes on the market by June 15 and, because of a bumper crop, you won't be paying anywhere near 10 cents a pound for them. A dime a pound has been the general price for some time now.

Wholesalers and retailers said today that this year's bumper crop, estimated as being 5,000,000 bushels larger than the crop last year, will be entirely for consumption here at home since early potatoes are more perishable than others and cannot be shipped to our forces overseas.

Severe freezes delayed the ma-turity of the early potatoes causing acute shortages in some areas and high prices in others. With the arrival of the new crop prices are expected to go lower—much lower.

Mansfield dealers said today that the prices have already begun to decline and can be expected to decrease gradually.

They predicted that prices will probably be drastically reduced around the middle of June. The reduction will be the direct result of the large crop and the fact that abnormal weather conditions have caused the crops in California, South Carolina, North Carolina, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, Alabama and other states to be ready for market simultaneously.

Calls for Probe of $1,500 Reported Paid to Rep. Bender

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND—Thomas M. Carey, clerk of the Cleveland board of elections, said today that the board and the office of the Cuyahoga county prosecutor will be asked to inquire into payments of $1,500 which the Cleveland Press said was made to Rep. George H. Bender, R., Ohio, by John L. Schmeller, indicted former president of the National Bronze and Aluminum company.

The press said that under Ohio law it is a criminal offense for any corporation to donate any money, "directly or indirectly," to any political party, committee, organization, or for any candidate for political office.

Schmeller, indicted earlier this month by a federal grand jury with six other top officials of National Bronze on charges of fraud in connection with government contracts, made out the checks to Bender on Aug. 7, 1942, and Oct. 30, 1942, the Press said. One check was for $1,000, the Press reported.

Schmeller said he did not know

SELECTIONS BY BOOK-OF-MONTH CLUB ON LIST

'Fifth Seal' and 'Year of Decision' To Be Released at City Library.

Two Book-of-the-Month club selections head the list of new fiction and non-fiction which will be on Mansfield Public Library shelves Saturday. They are THE FIFTH SEAL by Mark Landau and THE YEAR OF DECISION: 1846, by Bernard DeVoto.

The setting for Landau's book is western Europe; the time, the ominous and turbulent years before the second World war. The principal people are the members of a Soviet embassy on a mission to the luxurious capitals of the west. Their lives interweave with those of the men and women they meet in a wisely satiric story rich in dramatic episodes.

"The Year of Decision: 1846" is outstanding in the field of non-fiction. It consists primarily of a selected number of narratives to illustrate the variety of frontier experiences and the national importance of western expansion, one of the most thrilling periods of American history.

The principal character of GEORGIA BOY by Erskine Caldwell is twelve years old and the household in which he is brought up includes his father, a somewhat strong-minded and itinerant character; his mother, who takes in washing and handles the practical matters of paying bills while trying to raise her young son and cope with her husband, some aggravating goats, game cocks, and a lazy colored yard boy named Handsome Brown, who has a hand in practically everthing. Though the episodes are humorous in tone, they are balanced by sentiment, irony, and the ordinary occurrences of everyday life.

GREAT SMITH by Edison Marshall, author of "Benjamin Blake," is the story of Captain John Smith who is known to Americans for his doings in Virginia and for his affair with Pocahontas. That episode, however, important as it was, was not all, or even a major part of the adventurous career of this amazing man—for his life's ambition—to reach the Indies and to do it by discovering the Northwest Passage—led him to many adventures in strange places and three colorful love affairs.

Other fiction includes A CERTAIN DOCTOR FRENCH, Seifert; FOR ALL MEN BORN, Mackay; ECHO OF A BOMB, Siller.

Betty Wilson in her book, MIRACLE IN HELLAS, graphically and vividly tells the story of Greece under Axis occupation through the story of the people who took part in it. A picture of a country subjugated by Axis armies forms the first part of the book. The author then traces the history of the last days of Greece's war against the Axis—the final events which led to collapse—the conditions which led to the famine now gripping the country the underground movement and its strength and accomplishments today.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A CURMUDGEON by Harold L. Ickes is an unusual autobiography of a man in public life. The book contains Mr. Ickes' story of his years of battle with Colonel McCormick of the Chicago Tribune" — chapters on oil, and a vivid, ruthless account of politics —both city (Chicago) and national —of the last forty years.

WAR DISCOVERS ALASKA by Joseph Driscoll, of the "New York Herald Tribune," is a first-hand, eye-witness account of what is happening on our last frontier. He tells about incredible achievements in this hard and lusty country, and urges that we recognize Alaska as a "second front in our own backyard," as a bridge to Asia and the nearest jumping off place for Tokyo.

Other non-fiction includes: Last Poems of Eleanor Wylie, Benet (Wylie), The book (The Story of Printing and Bookmaking), McMurtrie; Stina, the story of a Cook, Smith; The Yankee Cook Book, Wolcott; Applied Leathercraft, Groneman; The Golden Age of Colonial Culture, Wertenbaker; Silk Screen Color Printing, Sternberg; Climate Makes the Man, Mills; Physiological Hygiene, Hickman; Health Education of the Public, Bauer and Hull.

EXPECT COUNCIL TO GET STREET PLANS TUESDAY

$74,000 Route 42 Project To Be Submitted; Repair Work Starts In City.

While workmen moved into the Woodland area today to repair winter-damaged streets, negotiations on a $74,000 project involving the widening and resurfacing of South Main street and Lexington avenue and resurfacing of Marion avenue were nearing completion and plans were expected to be ready for approval by city council next Tuesday night.

After conferring with state highway department officials in Columbus, Mayor W. J. Locke said he believed the city had made "a satisfactory deal with the state" for financing the project. He said figures showing how much the work will cost the city could not be released until the plan is approved by State Highway Director Hal G. Soure.

Most of the cost of the project will go into work on the intersection of South Main street and Lexington avenue where the streets will be widened and pedestrian safety islands will be built. Resurfacing of Marion avenue from Glessner avenue to Cline avenue, included in the project, will cost $8,500.

The city has decided to let the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company do the street patching, the mayor said, because the firm can spread asphalt materials for $3.90 a ton while it would cost the city more than $4 a ton to do the work with city equipment and men.

With favorable weather, most of the patching should be completed in 10 days, he added. Repair work has been completed in South Boulevards and the crew of workers is ready to patch the city streets that were hit hardest by freezing weather.

FLOODS CUT OIL DELIVERY TO EAST COAST

Atlantic Motorists Are Facing Summer-Long Ban on Pleasure Driving.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Mid-western floods have caused a 16.5 percent drop in tank car deliveries of oil to the east coast, the Office of Defense Transportation reported, as indications mounted that eastern motorists are faced with the prospect of a summer-long pleasure driving ban.

In the 24-hour period ending at 12.01 a. m. Tuesday, the ODT said, tank car shipments of petroleum to 25 eastern rail terminals declined from 859,000 barrels daily to a level of 700,093 barrels.

At the same time, the ODT warned that the situation will become "progressively tighter" as the full impact of the floods strikes eastern deliveries.

"An earlier prediction that the flood temporarily will shrink eastern deliveries of oil by at least one-fifth and possibly by as much as one-half still appears to be a reasonable estimate," the agency reported.

Rail gateways on the lower half of the Mississippi river—Memphis, New Orleans, and Shreveport—will be endangered as flood waters move south, it was pointed out.

Meantime, the ODT ordered resumption of tank car loadings at Norris City, Ill., northern terminus of the Texas-Illinois pipe line, following repairs to a break in the line at Little Rock, Ark.

Officials said tank car loading on a reduced scale, probably about 75,000 barrels a day, were expected to begin at Norris City today. The seven-day period of inactivity of the line, however, cost the east a total of 800,000 barrels of petroleum.

Moreover, road beds and bridges washed out by the record floods cannot be repaired until the waters recede and additional time will elapse before the railroads attain their previous peak of almost one million barrels of oil a day to the easts, the ODT said.

GETS DEGREE AT WESLEYAN

Thomas Hosler Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Scott, 481 Marion avenue, will receive his bachelor of arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan university at the university's commencement exercises Sunday.

Miriam Jane Johnson, Washington township, will also receive her degree at the commencement.

Other students in the Mansfield area who will be graduated from the university Sunday are: Mary Frances Fulton, Galion; Janet Lucille Kiess, Bucyrus; Jane Marquart, Crestline; Arthur Rolland McElfish, Willard; Charlotte Rossi Perkins, Mt. Vernon, Glenna Jeanne Frances, Mt. Gilead.

German Guns Ready to Backfire on Nazis

German guns captured by the British are now ready to fight again, this time against their former owners. This official British photo shows 50-mm. anti-tank guns, photographed at one of the ordnance depots in London where they were reconditioned for use by the British army.

Patrol Planes Prove Weapon Of Versatility

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Big, lumbering patrol bombers, once among the slowest planes that fly, are being developed into a night offensive weapon whose worth was drastically shown at Midway and in other Pacific battles.

At one time patrol fleets were rarely operated without fighter escort, but now they operate independently, and are the aircraft which have proved their versatility most spectacularly in this war. Constantly improved as a result of their operation on every ocean, they have effected rescues under most adverse conditions, and have sunk dozens of submarines.

The renaissance in patrol bomber operation has resulted in their use on projects for which it was long thought they were not fitted. Improvement in design has kept pace with their wider utility, until now there is almost no land or sea operation on which they can not be used.

Pole Lima Beans Profitable In Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Released by Central Press Ass'n.)

Because pole lima beans are prolific producers, it is profitable to plant them in the Victory garden. It should be remembered, however, that they require a richer soil than bush beans. Only one planting of pole lima beans is necessary, for they will continue to bear all through the season.

Pole lima beans can be planted in rows or hills. If the beans are to be planted in hills, remove one or two shovelfuls of soil and put a shovelful of manure in the hole. Cover the manure with soil and then hill up the rest of the soil to a height of four to six inches. Plant six or eight seeds in each hill. When the young plants attain a height of four inches thin them out, leaving only the four sturdiest plants.

Pole limas are rank growers and require strong supports. The poles used should not be less than 12 feet tall with about 15 inches of the pole set firmly into the soil, as illustrated. Rough barked poles aid the vines in clinging.

When the vegetables garden is located in a windy area, additional strength for pole limas can be obtained by letting them climb on a wigwam of poles, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Four poles should be set on a slant, as illustrated, with the lower end of each stake or pole resting near a hill of the beans. Such a wigwam of poles when bolted or tied together at the top and set firmly in the ground is not apt to be blown over during a wind storm.

People Are Judged by Their Hands

This is the season of the year when hands are likely to show a good deal of wear and tear. Hard work and a cold winter took their toll. Some of us have been so busy that we just are able to take care of tresses and complexions; the hands had to look out for themselves. And there is summer gardening ahead of us. If you aren't a demon gardener you are losing out on a lot of fun, not doing your duty to Uncle Sam.

Shabby hands make a woman self-conscious. If they are of satin finish, nails exquisitely groomed and tinted, she doesn't mind showing them off a bit. It's like being beautifully dressed, if one feels cute and snappy, knows clothes are precisely right, one has zest and spirit.

We judge people by their hands. If they look capable, we believe the woman is industrious, active, useful. The fussy, nervous woman keeps her finger jiggling, and we don't like that. We feel sorry for people who have to live with her.

The woman with poise folds her fingers prettily or lets them rest gracefully upon the arms of the chair. One is at ease with this charming lady who seems at peace with herself and her fellow creatures.

If the hands are not beautifully molded, they can be made attractive by fastidious attention and by cultivating graceful movement.

Professional dancers are as interested in the movements of their hands as they are of their toes. Observe them carefully, note the exquisite pose of the fingers, the flexibility of the wrists, the relationship between the movements of the arms and the body. This is an interesting study, gives one ideas. Grace is the essence of beauty and grace expressed by the hands is particularly engaging.

As for the language of the hands, just think what a vocabulary they have. They threaten, they entreat. They welcome and they dismiss. They give praise with applause. They express despair and alarm.

When placing your hands on your hips, point the fingers backward; that's a neat and pretty pose. Don't offer a limp hand when shaking hands; give a friendly pressure. Keep your hands away from your hair. Twisting a curl is too naive a trick to be attractive.

As for everyday care, do not fancy that applications of lotions are enough. Those semi-liquid, milky ones are life savers, but as the hands are washed often, natural oil removed, they need a thorough lubrication at least once a week. Cocobutter and lanoline are good mediums.

The Dutch worked copper mines in New Jersey in 1660.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I should have been prepared for Noel's angry query, but I had been too absorbed in my telephone conversation with my father to realize what he would inevitably read into my message. For an instant, therefore, I was silent from sheer surprise, then, as Noel strode toward the door, I was galvanized into action.

"He's been left unmuzzled too long!" he said savagely, but my sharp, "Noel! Wait!" halted him long enough for me to rush up to him and seize his arm.

"My father is attending to his case," I told him breathlessly. "He already is in the 'protective custody' of Adams, and he will remain there until he comes to his senses. The impertinence for which he is being held was wholly directed against me, and is highly ludicrous, not tragic. Sit down until I tell you about it."

Refrains From Telling All.

Purposely I did not tell them that Adams had nabbed Redfield almost outside their apartment. That revelation could come later, if at all. I wished Noel to have no suspicion that Redfield must have hurried directly from my apartment to theirs in order to pour into Mary's ears his plaint that Constance Bridgeman was stealing his scenes. Nor did I tell them that Adams wished nobody to leave the apartment until he had landed Redfield safely in his room.

Instead I told them, trying to make the recital humorous, of Redfield's call upon me, with his plea to have me stop Constance Bridgeman's "stealing" his scenes, and of his threat which had made my father insist that I be escorted by Adams to their apartment.

"What an abysmal—and laughable—heel he is!" Mary comented when I had finished.

"I don't see anything laughable about him," her husband growled.

"I know," I said sympathetically. "He is loathsome. But I believe his antics when he was wailing about Constance would have provoked a grin from almost anybody."

The Telephone Interrupts.

"Not from me!" Noel declared stoutly, and then, to my great relief, the telephone rang.

"For you, Auntie Madge," Mary said, and as I took up the receiver, I heard the voice of Adams.

"Everything all clear," he said, and hung up again.

"He has Steve safely in his kennel," I said, smiling, "and now suppose I tell you why I am here, and why Father wants Noel to come over there. It's very 'hush, hush' but I shall have to tell you about it."

Noel reluctantly seated himself, and Mary injected a light note.

"Our ears are so bent they're almost off!" she chortled.

I immediately plunged into the story of Katherine's desire to visit her husband at the hideaway, and my father's consent, provided I could take Katherine's place in keeping up the pretense of Mary's injury, and that Dicky would stay in our apartment, with Ronald taking Dicky's place at the Underwood home.

I did not mention the threat of Ruth Hayes, nor what peril was to be Katherine's and mine in the early hours of the next morning. At that unearthly hour there would be no need of ministrations to Mary, and I was sure I would be back the next morning in time to take over Katherine's duties.

"I've come over now, so that Katherine can drill me in whatever mumbo-jumbo she practices over you," I told Mary, smiling. Then I turned to Noel.

"Because of Steve Redfield's latest," I said. "Father does not wish Katherine nor Mary nor me to go into the corridors without escort. Nor does he want my apartment left alone. So he is waiting for you to come over and stay while Aunt Katherine and I are away. He will arrange for some one to escort her over here."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

VIOLATE YOUR CUSTOM

It is customary to play certain combinations of cards in certain particular ways. Who ever heard of a declarer leading away from an A-Q-J toward a couple of little cards of the suit in the opposite hand, or from a king-jack-ten holding toward two or three spot cards? The answer is, any fine player who can recognize the exceptional cases in which such a play is the winning thing. There can be several types of situations in which the custom of leading toward those combinations would be losing bridge.

	♠ 10 5 3 ♥ A K 10 8 6 ♦ 10 6 4 ♣ 7 4
♠ J 6 ♥ 7 2 ♦ A Q 9 7 ♣ K 10 9 5 2	N W E S	♠ A 7 4 2 ♥ 9 5 4 3 ♦ K J 8 3 ♣ 3

One of the most unusual plays by any of the 36 invited stars in the recent Masters' championship in New York was made on that deal by the very first player from the state of Kansas who had ever competed in the event during the 13 years in which it has been contested. He is J. G. Ripstra, of Wichita, and the play earned him a fine score on the hand. Other contracts were reached at some tables, other opening leads were made against 2-Hearts at some, and he had to richly earn the good score he got, as East led the heart 3 against him.

Notice what would happen if, after winning that in the dummy, he tried to enter his own hand to lead for the club finesse. The defenders would have knocked the other heart out of the dummy before he could discard a diamond from his own hand. They therefore would have scored three diamonds, which with a trick each in the black suits would have held him to exactly his contract.

But he limited his diamond losses to two by a combination of daring and timing. To the second trick he led the club Q! West, of course, took that with the K, properly fearing the consequences if he did not cover. Also West, of course, did not return another club, falling for the illusion created by the opening trump lead and the club play, that East now had a club left and North now was blank. So he led his heart to take out the dummy's last one, but the declarer's three trumps settled that and two clubs brought a diamond discard. Thus he made 3-Hearts, the extra trick being very important in such match-point play.

Borrow at Household without fuss or bother on your salary, furniture or car—without endorsers. Pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Example: a $50 loan repaid in 6 monthly instalments of $9.24 each costs $5.44 but if repaid in one month costs only $1.50. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 3% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 but not exceeding $300, and ½% per month on any remainder.

STOCKS REACH FOR NEW HIGH PRICE LEVELS

Profit Taking Halts Climb For Some Leaders But Trend's Still Up.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stocks generally continued to reach for new 3-year highs in today's early market proceedings although profit cashing halted the advance for some leaders.

Up fractions at a moderately active opening were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, United Aircraft, Chesapeake & Ohio and Western Union. Northern Pacific and North American Aviation were slightly in arrears.

Boardrooms noted the bank clearings summary of Dun & Bradstreet which disclosed that these transactions in 23 cities, during the week ended Wednesday, while receding 4.7 per cent from the previous week's aggregate, topped the comparable period a year ago by 29.4 per cent.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Rye ran into profit-taking at the opening today after four days of sharp advances. Prices eased at the start, but then rallied to about yesterday's close. Wheat and oats were steady.

Wheat started ⅛-¼c higher, July $1.44¾, September $1.45⅛-145¼, and rye was ½c lower to ⅛c higher, July 93½-93⅞c.

News Briefs

Recovers Bicycle — A bicycle found abandoned yesterday at 389 Sturges avenue was claimed last night by Robert Shoup, police reported.

Car Stolen—Thad Winbigler, Shelby R. D. 4 reported to the sheriff's office last night that his auto had been stolen from in front of Bly's store in Ganges around 10:30 p. m. yesterday.

Spring Concert Saturday—The Sons of Herman Harmonizers, under the direction of Ferdinand Schwaner, will hold their annual spring concert Saturday at 8 p. m. Dancing will follow the concert.

Bicycle Stolen—Phyllis Stanton, 141 Marion avenue, last night reported to police the theft of her bicycle from in front of the Y. W. C. A. during the early part of the evening.

Daughter Born—Cpl. and Mrs. A. T. Sjursen, jr., of Key West, Fla., are the parents of a son born yesterday. Mrs. Sjursen was formerly Miss Marjorie Crowl of Mansfield. Cpl. Sjursen is stationed at Camp Haan, Cal.

Cubs Meet—Cub Pack 2 will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. at Western Avenue school instead of Central Methodist church, Cubmaster C. G. Knarr has announced. The meeting was moved to the school because of other activities at the church.

Joint Meeting Called—A joint meeting of the executive and missions and distributions committee of the Community and War Chest will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Several requests will be considered and arrangements will be made for the annual meeting of the trustees later in June.

Dies in Toledo — Miss Betty Planck, 20, Toledo, died Wednesday in that city, Mansfield relatives have been told. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle M. Planck, she was the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Planck, 31 Florence avenue, and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Divelbiss, Cook road.

Supervises Lake Area—Frank J. Crume of Cambridge today had been appointed safety supervisor of the lands and lakes of the Muskingum watershed conservancy district which includes Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill lakes. Formerly a sergeant in the state highway patrol, Crume will have the powers of a police officer and will work with the Ohio division of conservation and natural resources in the enforcement of regulations in the lake area.

Two Pay—Two motorists were fined for traffic violations in the Mansfield area yesterday, state patrolmen reported. Granval Heffner, Lancaster, was fined $25 and costs in Mayor T. R. Ziegler's Bellville court for being in physical control of an automobile while under the influence of alcohol. He was arrested on State Route 13. Thomas F. O'Shaughnessy, Columbus, was fined $5 and cost in Mayor R. G. Booher's Mt. Gilead court for speeding on U. S. Route 42, Patrolmen said.

This Year Our Car Budget Is Going for Bonds and Furniture

"We're going to buy all the bonds we possibly can and we're going to buy home furnishings. Oh, no . . . we're not going to buy all the furniture we would like . . . just a few essential pieces that we really need. And of course we'll get them at Batson's. We've bought all of our home furnishings at that store . . . right from the time we were married, and we've always been delighted with every purchase we made. They've got the latest, smartest styles, and everything's so moderately priced."

LAZY DAYS IN HOSPITAL END IN AIR FORCES

Patients Turn To Text Books, Practice Calisthenics While Bed Ridden.

(By United Press)

ST. LOUIS—In that other war the boys in the trenches sometimes used to wish for a "blighty"—a wound just serious enough to send them back to long, lazy days, full of nothing but eating and sleeping, at some base hospital.

But warfare has changed in myriad ways since them, and there are no more of those "long, lazy days."

Maj. Howard A. Rush, St. Louis physician and chief of medical service at Jefferson Barracks, is responsible for the change. He has devised a program, now being adopted at all Air Forces hospitals in the country, for instructing convalescents in technical courses and even giving them bed calisthenics.

The major says the primary purpose is not to entertain the soldiers but to make good use of time ordinarily wasted.

The men are taught by lectures, motion pictures and other visual means. They learn about "booby traps," radio transmission, airplane detection, ju jitsu, meteorology, camouflage, gas warfare, model airplane building, mathematics, military courtesy and special courses in technical skills needed by the Air Force. A course is even offered for illiterate soldiers, teaching them to write their own name and serial numbers in four days.

The curriculum is based on the length of time the convalescent is expected to remain in the hospital.

But what makes even an old-time top sergeant shudder is the emphasis placed upon physical exercise, which never before has been included in hospital routine.

Major Rusk explained that there is no "in between" for a sick soldier. He is either in the hospital or is expected to perform his full duty. Hence the program of physical upbuilding to enable discharged patients to withstand the rigors of drilling after leaving the hospital.

Patients first take bed calisthenics—arm and finger exercises. These exercises are gradually increased and lengthened until three or four days before the soldier leaves, when he must take a full hour of calisthenics.

Major Rusk devised the program under the supervision of Col. James McDowell, post surgeon and commanding officer of the hospital. Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the Army Air Forces, has given the program his interested approval, along with Brig. Gen. David Grant, Air Forces surgeon.

TOO MANY PANTS

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y.—(INS)—A Middletown policeman who thought the prosperous-appearing portliness of James Moran, 47, was inconsistent with the rest of his appearance, stopped to search him on the street.

Moran, who said his last home was Dayton, O., proved to be wearing four pairs of pants, which he admitted having stolen from a haberdasher. Peeled down to one-trouser size, he went to jail for 30 days.

Don't Neglect Slipping

FALSE TEETH

Do false teeth drop, slip or wobble when you talk, eat, laugh or sneeze? Don't be annoyed and embarrassed by such handicaps. FASTEETH, an alkaline (non-acid) powder to sprinkle on your plates, keeps false teeth more firmly set. Gives confident feeling of security and added comfort. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

On Feet For Over 30 Years

Allen's Foot-Ease has been bringing relief and comfort to tired, burning feet for over 30 years. Sprinkle it on your feet and into your shoes, and enjoy the refreshing comfort it brings while you stand long hours at your work. Even stiff, heavy, new or tight-fitting shoes lose their terror when you use Allen's Foot-Ease. But good old Allen's does even more. It acts to absorb excessive perspiration and prevents offensive foot odors. Helps keep feet, socks and stockings dry and sweet. For real foot comfort, remember it's Allen's Foot-Ease you want. Get it today at all druggists.

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

STOCKHOLM--(By Wireless)—Small nations like Sweden have long-standing fears of big powers, and on that psychology the Axis is beginning to play in its desperation.

Wide circulation is being given in neutral countries to the remarks of Italian Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs Bastianini before the foreign affairs committee of the Italian senate. This Axis spokesman took the line that at the last meeting of Hitler and Mussolini the fundamental principle was adopted that smaller nations would never be forced to accept oppression by big powers and could retain their national individuality and have free development.

Clapper

The German press is giving much attention to that statement, peddling it among the neutrals as the key to the post-war political aims of the Axis. The same newspapers which carry that also report the execution of 10 more Norwegians, next door to Sweden. People here cannot hear what the Axis spokesmen say about freedom for small nations, because the groans of tortured victims in Norway drown out the smoothly tailored voice from Italy.

It is incredible that the Axis should attempt so audacious a line when the facts of its brutal oppression of small nations are so well known here. I have just had dinner with several Norwegians, one of whom had escaped from Oslo the previous week. The others escaped during the last few months. No one in Norway is allowed to own a radio set, on penalty of death. One of the escaped Norwegians was an editor, who described how the Germans give instructions as to the size of headlines and the position in the paper of all news concerning the war. The atrocity stories these men told are too bloodcurdling to repeat. And whether they are all true or not, so many Swedes believe them to be true that the Axis line about being good to small nations is too revolting to bring even a healthy horse-laugh here.

One of the surprises I have had in Sweden has been the ineffectiveness of the Nazi propaganda. The Swedes and other neutrals know the Allied powers are not going to treat them with the brutality with which the Nazis have treated Czechoslovakia, Holland, Poland and Norway. They see that the Irish Free State, after nearly four years of war, is still neutral although it is a part of the British Isles and occupies some strategic locations that Britain badly needs. Would the Nazis ever have permitted that? That is the only answer needed to the new Axis line of buttering up small nations.

Yet I think we of the United States, and the British and Russians as well, must recognize that we have a problem with the small states. They have been fairly well dealt with in the western hemisphere where no country, whatever its size, has anything to fear from the bigger countries. No one in any country of the western hemisphere can honestly say that the United States has thwarted its cultural development or political independence. On the contrary the United States has co-operated with and assisted financially all the nations of the hemisphere in developing toward greater freedom and security and higher standards of living. Yet at the same time the military strength of the United States has been applied to make the western hemisphere secure.

Something of that same method is necessary in other areas. You cannot expect Russia to leave herself insecure, or to fail to develop strategic locations, any more than the United States could be expected to forego protection of the Panama canal. But the small nations have a right to expect that the Russians and British and ourselves will permit them to have their own cultural development and self-government just as the Irish Free State and the small countries of the western hemisphere do. There is no reason why that cannot be.

NAME PANEL TO SETTLE FINANCE BILL DISPUTES

House, Senate Speed Work on Huge Appropriation To Reach Adjournment.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The Ohio legislature, driving toward adjournment by the week-end, today created a conference committee to settle differences of the house and senate over the record-breaking $369,116,129 biennial appropriation bill.

The senate passed the measure yesterday after adding $2,655,600 to the figure approved by the house, and the house refused to concur in the amendments.

Meanwhile, developments on other important legislation came fast as leaders hoped to complete work by holding sessions Friday and Saturday.

The house added its approval to the senate bill levying an unemployment insurance surtax up to one per cent on the pay rolls of manufacturers expanded by war business. The bill was passed, 101 to 18, despite a radiogram from Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson saying the legislation would impose additional expenses on the war department.

Gov. John W. Bricker commented that he was surprised at "the extent to which the undersecretary of war has gone in opposing legislation which the state legislature has given thorough consideration."

The senate passed, 26 to 3, the house bill providing prison sentences for agents and operators of the "numbers" gambling racket, but added an amendment which some sources said would jeopardize final enactment.

The house completed enactment of a program establishing a $1,300,000 rehabilitation fund for financially weak school districts, and

The house, rescinding a vote of disapproval, passed the bill of Senator P. H. Rogers (R-Lorain) authorizing the state pardon and parole commission to investigate prisoners serving life sentences for first degree murder and to recommend a pardon or commutation to the governor.

The appropriation bill, providing funds for 1943-44 operations of the state government, contains $16,221,100 more than did the 1941-42 appropriation act. It further provides that an additional $6,000,000 may be spent by the state highway department if the money is needed and the revenue is available.

FLOOD DANGER SUBSIDING IN MIDWEST AREA

Farmers Trek Back To Homes In Six States, Begin Replanting Job.

(By International News Service)

With the danger from high water passing, six midwest states today took stock of the vast damage from one of the greatest floods in almost a century in some areas and started on the task of rebuilding and replanting to deliver the huge wartime food order for the nation.

Thousands of farm families began to stream back to their homes, as high water that inundated millions of acres of lowlands receded, and looked for ways and means to reclaim the rich bottom land for production.

Representatives from the six flood-stricken states of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas met in St. Louis, Mo., to seek rehabilitation aid from the Red Cross and the army, loans from the disaster loan corporation set up during the Ohio river flood of 1937, larger quotas on farm machinery, early maturing seed and farm manpower.

The only flood menace remaining today was in the area from St. Louis south to Cape Girardeau, Mo.

One huge war plant at Wolf Lake, Ill., was forced to suspend operation because of the high water and several other factories along the Mississippi river danger areas were threatened.

The $9,000,000 generating plant of the Central Illinois Public Service company at Grand Tower, Ill., which supplied power for Illinois south to Tuscola including many coal mines, was ringed with sandbags and holding out against the flood although coastguardsmen said the situation there was "critical." Grand Tower was under martial law.

Beardstown, Ill., where Abraham Lincoln won his spurs as a lawyer, appeared to be out of danger as the great seawall protecting the town withstood the crest of the Illinois river. Army officials, however, declared the situation there still was "potentially serious."

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

LOS ANGELES—Joe Fay, a vice president of the International Union of Operating Engineers, and a New Jersey politician of the corrupt Hague-New Deal dictatorship, has been indicted in New York with James Bove, a vice president of the foul racket known as the Hod Carriers' and Common Laborers' Union. Both of these gangs have extorted incalculable sums of money from toilers in the war program and on other public and private works with the encouragement of the Roosevelt administration.

Pegler

Fay is a drunken, vicious gangster of the most brutal type, who nevertheless enjoyed the friendship and the favor of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. In the present case, he and Bove are charged in a state indictment with extorting $703,000 from contractors on the $300,000,000 Delaware aqueduct and other public works. They could be indicted by the federal government, which, of course, has wider jurisdiction. And the fact that they have not been bothered may speak for itself. The operations of both shakedowns, infested by common underworld criminals, extend from coast to coast and from Canada to the gulf. They constitute a record of corruption and brutality in connivance with the United States government which has no equal in the history of this country, and the forbearance of the department of justice toward both mobs is as evil as anything that was charged against the same department during the tenure of the late Harry Daugherty, in the Harding regime. Indeed, it is more despicable and subversive because this revolting condition has been suffered to exist by a national government which has had the sanctimonious and cynical effrontery to represent that all this represents a gain for labor.

This dispatch will not presume to pass upon the merits of the present indictments although I have made some investigation and have an opinion. But I may, with propriety, sketch some background.

The president of the operating engineers is a Chicago union gangster named William E. Maloney, who owns a racing stable, an enormous farm with fine buildings and a large dwelling in Illinois and a wintering place on Miami Beach. Fay owns two large homes, one in Newark and one on Long Island and a winter place at Sarasota, Fla. Fay is a contractor in construction work as well as a ruthless unioneer and he was once thrown out of the union for working both sides of the street, so to speak, as a representative and employer of workers, but was readmitted.

On May 20, 1930, Arthur Huddell, then the president, was shot near the heart in a restaurant in Washington. Ten days later he died of his wound. Another official of the union was wounded. A third member of the party, John Possehl, a vice president, was not hit and the executive board of the mob appointed him president. He held the job until he died, in September, 1940, whereupon Maloney moved in. It was during Possehl's presidency that Fay was kicked out. Possehl feared Fay but had Maloney's backing and Fay was not readmitted until he made his peace with Maloney.

Maloney, operating in Chicago, got his start when Huddell ordered Local 569, to combine with Local 42. The members refused so Huddell, exercising arbitrary powers, named Maloney to supersede the elected officers of 569 as appointed supervisors. The membership then voted Maloney out of the union and Huddell gave him a charter for a new local, 150. Into this Maloney absorbed Local 464 and many groups of workers subject to the terror of the goons under the passive, but effective, protection of the corrupt Kelly-New Deal machine in Chicago.

In February 1933, Dennis Bruce Ziegler, a worker with a large family, was murdered in Chicago four days after William Green had rejected his final letter of protest against Maloney's brutal racketeering at the expense of the members of 569. Ziegler told Green that the working members were slaves of gangsters and pleaded for help but Green coldly advised them to adjust their complaints within the union.

The murder was quickly forgotten by a corrupt and incompetent local administration although not by Ziegler's family, including five children in school, six other children and Mrs. Ziegler, and no arrest was ever made.

In a little over a year, Maloney's Local 150 "absorbed" Ziegler's local.

Maloney has been indicted repeatedly but never convicted. Once he was indicted as a member of the notorious TNT mob which "organized" the teaming contractors of Chicago into a "union" and, in return for tribute, actually reduced the wages of the teamsters. His co-defendants included a number of the most notorious criminals in Chicago gang history. They were acquitted.

In August, 1941, after Maloney had become national president of the union and Fay had resumed his racketeering in the east, William Green adorned a "testimonial dinner" for Maloney in Chicago, attended by many of the most vicious characters in the racket. In an official greeting, as president of the American Federation of Labor, Green said: "Bill Maloney is a highly efficient administrator, and executive of great talent and more than that, though there is no need to tell you people here tonight, who know Bill, a loyal, intelligent, honest, courageous leader of organized labor."

NAVY TO GET MORE DRAFTEES

Selective Service Official Explains Class 3-D In Cleveland Talk.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—The navy soon will select a greater share of the men furnished by draft boards, says Capt. W. P. Richardson, assistant chief of state selective service headquarters' manpower section.

Making the disclosure last night at a meeting of Cuyahoga county draft officials, Captain Richardson indicated the increase in naval selectees might necessitate closing some of the army's reception centers.

He also predicted Ohio's 330 boards would exhaust their remaining supply of single and childless married registrants in August.

Application of the 3-D classification—for cases where induction would work extreme hardship and privation of a man's dependents—was explained by Richardson.

He reported national headquarters was asking that two factors be taken into account when considering a registrant for 3-D: will a registrant's induction deprive his dependents of food or shelter?

Pregnancy of a wife or possession of a wife and minor child does not necessarily qualify a registrant for 3-D, Richardson declared. He added that the date when a man acquired dependency of a wife, parents or child was not to govern in determining whether his induction would create "extreme hardship and privation" on them.

For the present, the two-week post-induction furloughs beginning June 1 will be granted only to men processed into the army, the draft official asserted. He said the navy would not double its seven-day period of inactive status after induction until some time in July. Army selectees will be granted a 21-day furlough by Sept. 1.

Up and Down THE STREET

Lady, your rationing problems are simple compared to those of a Richland county man, his wife and 22 children. Feeding a family of 24 is a real job as the father informed the ration board when he came to apply for canning sugar. His wife cans 3,000 cans of fruit as a matter of course. "Does she have help," the amazed rationing clerks asked and were answered with a prompt "no." But the real problem for this family is that the government does not allow one family as much sugar as would be needed for this huge canning program. When he learned this, the head of this huge household stamped out in anger emitting a tirade against the whole setup.

Clyde Schwab, employe of the city waterworks department, is going to try his hand at raising cotton in Mansfield this summer, but not in the hope of harvesting a crop for market. Schwab collected some cotton seeds several weeks ago from a freight car in which the city received a shipment of pipe from Alabama. He has a florist friend who planted them in his greenhouse and the young plants are now about ready for replanting outdoors. Schwab has given some of the plants to friends who will try their luck with the southern crop.

Judging from the requests for yarn which came into the Red Cross production center before they received a shipment of yarn, workers there expected a deluge of knitters to descend upon them when they announced that the long awaited yarn had arrived. They have been surprised and disappointed and the yarn remains idle while knitters fail to call for it. Mrs. L. J. Ott, head of production, said there is "plenty of yarn for all and the garments to be knit range from a couple hours work to much longer projects."

SOVIETS BACK FOOD SYSTEM

Delegation at Hot Springs Approves U. S. Plan For Post-War Organization.

(By United Press)

HOT SPRINGS, Va.—Continuation of the Soviet Union's wartime collaboration into the days of peace and complete success for the United States' plan to establish a permanent world food organization were assured today by developments at the United Nations food conference.

The big question mark on the post-war world—the part to be played by Russia—appeared to have been answered at least in part by the Soviet Union's declaration in favor of an interim commission which would prepare the way for a permanent body to supervise a better distribution of food after the war.

This conference does not call for official committments by the 44 governments represented here, but the Soviet statement was accepted as a reflection of the Kremlin attitude. It was received, therefore, in an enthusiastic spirit and was interpreted as an omen of closer international co-operation among the United Nations in the post-war world.

George F. Saskin, of the Soviet delegation, made the declaration which was regarded as of sufficient importance to warrant issuance of the conference's first communique.

The communique, after announcing the first meeting of section IV concerned with "recommendations for continuing and carrying forward the work of the conference," reported consideration of the American plan for a continuing world food organization.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN NOTA, 63

Former Mansfield Resident to Be Buried Monday.

John Nota, 63, former resident of Mansfield, died Wednesday in Cincinnati.

Coach Harry Mehock will take a 15-man team of Tyger qualifiers to the state high school track meet at Columbus Saturday, probably one of the largest teams in numbers to enter the state championships.

First and second place winners in the district meets of last Saturday, including first two relay teams, are qualified for the state meet. Qualifiers listed on this page yesterday included only those with the three best marks in the various district meets.

Still keeping in training for the state classic are the following Tygers: Lewis, McBride, Wilging, Herrick, Schmidt, Humphreys, Smith, Zivkoff, Menke, Nameth, Beckel, Erich, Given, Black, Miller, Eichler and Crownover. Either Given or Black will be the 15th man on the Columbus trip.

There was a flurry of excitement in these parts yesterday when qualifiers announced in Columbus included only those with the three best records in district meets.

It was believed likely that only those announced qualifiers with the record marks would be eligible for the state meet, making it an individual instead of a team championship affair.

Mansfield finished fifth in th the Newark and Canton lays this spring, and Me- k hopes to do that well in state meet.

He has no illusions about ning the state title. "That l be awful fast company n there at Columbus," ys the Tyger tutor, "with eveland East Tech leading e field, even though Tech ualified only 10 men from e Cleveland district.

"But it will be fine experence for our youngsters, most f whom are sophomores and uniors and will be back for future competition."

Mansfield's hopes of compiling a respectable point total in the state meet lie in its number of qualifiers, and their chances of picking up points back of the first place winners in the various events.

The Tyger marks in district competition do not indicate that Mansfield will take a single first in the state, so the Tygers will have to pile up a lot of place points if they hope to be in the running.

Chief hope of the Tygers for state honors rests with the half-mile relay team which has been defeated only once this season, finishing second to East Tech in the Canton Relays.

Ha! Seems I nonchalantly fired Bill Mead from the board of education the other day while electing him No. 1 fan of Mansfield high school track activities.

I had the idea Bill had retired completely from public life last winter, and it was one of those things I knew so well, it wasn't necessary to ask. Was I dumfounded when I found how wrong I was.

Well, I fired him, so now I hire him back again. And he's still the No. 1 track fan.

Welcome back, Bill. Hope you enjoyed your vacation.

Still Says Tribe Club To Beat

Boudreau Sticks By Pre-Season Prediction.

By BILL KING

BOSTON—(AP)—Now that Lou Boudreau, youthful manager of the top-place Cleveland Indians, has had a chance to study all of the American league opposition at close-range, he still rates his club as "the one to beat."

"I said before the season opened that we would be the ones to beat and I have not seen anything in any of the other clubs to make me change my mind," Boudreau said.

Although the Indians start their first eastern swing against the Red Sox today with only one .300 hitter, Oris Hockett, there are enough of the other regulars close enough to that charmed slugging circle to give the club a potent punch.

Boudreau is especially pleased with the Indians' balance, although he does admit, now that Mel Harder is sidelined with a fractured ankle, that he could use a fourth starting pitcher.

"Jim Bagby, Al Smith and Chubby Dean have held up very well on the mound, but Harder's loss was a terrific blow," Boudreau explained. "Since Vernon Kennedy and Al Milnar have not hit their strides we will be handicapped until I can find a fourth starting pitcher. I have hopes that Mike Naymick will solve that problem."

Bagby, who has won five of his six 1943 pitching starts, has been taking his regular turn on the mound to date, but Boudreau appears to be picking the spots for southpaws Smith and Dean, who chalked up their third straight victories in as many starts Sunday when they knocked the Yankees out of first place.

The only serious problem now besetting Boudreau appears to be his first base situation. He has used both Roy Cullenbine and Otto Denning, a converted catcher, in that berth and it still appears to be wide open.

WINS OWN GAME

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Many a time and oft a pitcher, discovering that none of his mates will start a rally for him, has done the job himself and won the ball game.

Bucky Walters, whose Cincinnati Reds are adept at popping out with men on bases, is a leading proponent of the theory and he did it again last night, tucking the Philadelphia Phillies to bed, 1 to 0.

For 8 5-6 innings neither team could get a run. Charlie Fuchs, the Phil pitcher, fanned Eric Tipton and got Ray Mueller on a grounded for two outs in the ninth.

Then Bucky got an infield single, not one of his characteristic power drives to the outfield, but something that counts as much in the books.

Even at that, there was nothing desperate about the situation, especially considering that the Reds had left men on bases in almost [illegible] other inning and reasonably could be expected to do the same [illegible].

But while Fuchs was looking at Lonnie Frey at the plate, Bucky started for second. Fuchs forgot that you have to complete a started pitching motion and turned and threw to second. Bucky was tagged but Fuchs was charged with a balk and Bucky stayed put.

Just to be safe, Fuchs walked Frey intentionally, thinking Eddie Miller to be a soft touch. Eddie singled and Bucky scored the night's run.

Si Johnson for the Phils and Elmer Riddle for the Reds are today's pitchers.

Simpson Ties Columbus West

Deadlock In Score and In Firsts Won.

That rarity of track and field results, a tie match, went into the John Simpson Junior high records for 1943 today, a 49½ to 49½ deadlock with Columbus West in a telegraphic meet.

The tie continued in first place winners, Simpson having six, and West the same number.

Thomas was high scorer for Simpson with firsts in the discus and shot put and third in the hurdles. Hutt won the 440 and 880 for West.

Get 53 Runs In 6 Innings

Bowman Tallies 15 In First, 26 In Second.

And the merry-go-round went round. And so did the Bowman school softballers, round and round and round, as they swamped Bushnell under the unbelievable score of 53-3 in six innings yesterday in the grade school softball leagues.

Bowman scored 15 runs in the first inning and 26 in the second, and the boys were so tired they could add only 12 more in the next four stanzas.

The leagues wound up their schedule yesterday with Bowman winning the Northern loop title and Brinkerhoff the Southern, both undefeated. They will play next week for the city championship.

Brinkerhoff trounced Hedges 17-7 for its title, but other games saw more respectable scores. Western took an extra-inning tilt from West Fifth 5-4 and Carpenter defeated Woodland 7-4.

ORTIZ DEFENDS BANTAM TITLE FROM ROBLETO

LONG BEACH, Calif.—(AP)—Manuel Ortiz, a rugged, two-fisted Mexican, has just proved it is better to get in one solid punch than two or three of the powder puff variety.

Ortiz demonstrated this premise last night at the expense of fast and clever Joe Robleto. In so doing, he retained the world's bantamweight crown, which he wrested last October from Lou Salica.

The El Centro, Calif., Mexican whipped a game and courageous boy, one who traded punches with him all the way and won the plaudits of a crowd of 4,100. Ortiz weighed 118, Robleto 117.

Sportsmen Plan Season

Charles Mill Group Re-elects Officers.

New activities for the coming summer and fall were outlined by an enthusiastic group of fishermen, boat owners and hunters at the annual meeting of the Charles Mill Sportsmen's club held at Orphan's knoll on the lake Tuesday evening.

Some of the major accomplishments of the past year, as reviewed by President James Burkhart, were the stocking of the dam waters with more than 5,000 bass, raising and releasing of several hundred pheasants, getting the state conservation department to open the north end of the lake for duck hunting, and being instrumental in getting Shelby industries to eliminate the custom of polluting the waters of the Black Fork creek with acid.

This year a larger fish stocking and pheasant raising program will be carried out. Other improvements which were decided upon to start immediately were the construction of docks and the erection of toilet facilities for use of fishermen in various sections of the conservation grounds.

James Burkhart, president, and Leo Yuncker, secretary-treasurer, were relected for another year, and Al Kipp was elected vice-president. Committees appointed to assist the officers were as follows: Charles Siegenthaler, membership; Roy Vaughn, social; Earl Pollock, publicity; Glenn Macy, boats and docks; Clair Touby, ice skating; Carl Breyman, fishing, and Paul Cropper, hunting.

Can't Hit After Sun Descends

But Big Leaguers Get Plenty of Hits Earlier.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer)

SOMEBODY must have sneaked a supply of the original balata (pronunced baloney by the players) balls into the major league parks under cover of darkness last night.

There were two games played in the daylight yesterday and in one the Pittsburgh Pirates punished the Brooklyn Dodgers 17-4. The two teams made a total of 28 hits. In the other the New York Giants beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2 and there were 22 hits.

But after the sun had set, look what happened:

Cincinnati nosed out the Phillies 1-0 and Washington whipped the St. Louis Browns by the same score. There wasn't a swat in either game longer than a single and the four teams together made a total of only 18 hits.

Another flood-lighted affair was an 11-inning scramble at St. Louis with the Boston Braves beating the Cardinals 4-3 and even though it included a couple of Cardinal home runs, it also was a pitching party.

Lou Klein and Walker Cooper hit homers for two of the six hits given up by Al Javery as he counted his fourth victory against one defeat. The Braves touched Mort Cooper for ten safeties and won the game in the 11th when Eddie Joost led off with a single and ultimately came home on a single by Rookie Charley Workman.

This boosted the surprising Braves within half a game of the second place St. Louis Redbirds.

At Pittsburgh the Pirates scored 15 runs in the first three innings off Max Macon and Les Webber. Vince DiMaggio hit two home runs, one of them with one on and the other with two. But what really piled up the score was a series of walks by Webber, who issued nine bases on balls and forced six runs across the plate.

At Chicago the Giants scored all four of their runs in the first three innings off Paul Derringer. The fact that they were outhit 12-10 and could do nothing in the later innings made little difference.

Oh yes, a certain Mad Russian, whose name has been in the public prints so much it doesn't need repeating, made his 1943 debut and was the only Chicago player except the pitcher who failed to get a hit.

ANGLERS REMINDED OF SEASON OPENING DATES

COLUMBUS—(AP)—State Conservation Commissioner Don Waters reminded Buckeye anglers today that the bass season opens June 1 in Ohio's southern zone and June 16 in the northern area.

The dividing line between the zones is Route 35 from the Indiana state line to Chillicothe, Route 50 to Athens and alternate Route 50 to Marietta.

Black bass may not be taken in the Lake Erie district and in Pymatuning reservoir until July 1.

Jim Bagby Follows Trail Blazed By Famous 'Old Sarge'

By WALTER L. JOHNS
(Central Press Sports Editor)

On Sept. 8, 1916, James C. (Sarge) Bagby, star righthander of the Cleveland Indians, celebrated his big event—the birth of a son.

The boy, as so often happens, was named Jim, jr.

JIM BAGBY, JR.

Sarge Bagby went on to become a great pitcher. He reached the top in 1920 when he compiled an outstanding record, winning 31 games against 12 losses to help pitch the Cleveland team to its one and only pennant.

Sarge Bagby, like all fathers, had hopes his son would follow in his footsteps and become a major league pitcher.

Young Jim did just that and as fate so often sets the stage, Jim Bagby, jr., today is the ace of the Cleveland Indians staff and, judging by his record to date, may be pitching the Indians to a pennant and world series play, which would be their only pennant and world series representation since 1920.

Bagby notched his fifth win of the season before the Tribe moved east for their first invasion of the Atlantic seaboard. He has been defeated only once.

Young Jim was pitching professionally when only 17. He began his career at Charlotte in the Piedmont league in 1935, winning 13 games, losing nine.

He moved over to Rocky Mount the next season and then went north to Hazelton in the New York-Pennsylvania loop. He won 21 games for Hazelton. That was enough for the Boston Red Sox management and young Jim Bagby was on the Red Sox payroll in 1938.

He was a star his first year in the big time. Winning 15 games against 11 losses, he finished with a .577 average. The next season he got off to a bad start and was sent to Little Rock. In 1940 he was back with the Sox.

Cleveland got young Jim in December, 1940, in a trade. Odell Hale and Joe Dobson went to the Sox in exchange for Bagby, Gerald Walker and Gene Desautels.

In two seasons with the Tribe young Jim has won 26 games, 17 last year. He appears on his way to top that figure this season and may win 20 games.

Old Sarge Bagby, recently reunited in Cleveland with his son, pitched for Cincinnati before coming to Cleveland. He joined the Tribe in 1915 and hurled for the Indians until 1923, when he went to Pittsburgh. It was there he ended his career, 20 years ago.

Providents to Open Season

Girls Book Twin Bill With Clevelanders.

You can't accuse the Provident Loan girls softball team of picking a soft touch for their season's lid lifter.

Providents have scheduled a double header Sunday at 2 p. m. at North Lake park with Koch Furnitures of Cleveland, a team that defeated them twice last summer.

Whether the Providents, with a lineup definitely weakened from last season, want revenge from the Kochs, or just want to play ball hasn't been explained.

Alice Iceman, New London girl who has been working here this winter, will be on the mound for the Providents in the opener, and Manager "Doc" Daugherty is trying to get an out-of-town hurler for the second game.

Indianapolis Paces Loop Race

(By Associated Press)

The Indianapolis Indians, who haven't won an American association pennant since 1928, are putting in their bid early this season.

Today they not only lead the young association race by two and one-half games, but have won nine of their last 11 starts.

The Indians won their fourth straight contest last night, 4 to 1.

George Dockins of the Columbus Red Birds bested Tommy Reis of Kansas City, 1 to 0, in 10 innings. At Louisville, the Colonels punched across three runs in the seventh and eighth innings to break a tie and defeat St. Paul, 4 to 1.

Milwaukee's game at Toledo was postponed.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES ON UPWARD TRAIL

Advance Starts Late Tuesday After Several Days of Uncertain Trends.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Extending the advance which started near the close Tuesday the stock market bettered its position in today's early dealings.

Up fractions to around a point at a fairly active opening were United Air Lines, Texas Co., U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil (N.J.), and Western Union.

Receiving the attention of holders of utility shares was the report of the Edison Electric Institute showing that power distribution for the week ended May 22 reached a new record high at 3,992,250,000 kilowat hours. This compared with 3,969,161,000 in the previous week and 3. 979,985,000 in the same period last year.

CHICAGO—(AP)—All rye contracts advanced to new seasonal highs at the opening today, but heavy profit taking kept the upturn within fractional limits. Oats were strong and wheat steady.

Wheat started ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, July $1.44¼-1.44½, September $1.45, and rye was up ⅛-½, July 93¼-93½c.

Richland Soldier Killed In Africa, Father Informed

Another Richland county soldier, Claire Trumpower, 24, has been killed in North Africa, his father, Grover Trumpower of near Perrysville had been notified today.

Trumpower, with an infantry unit, had been in the service since June 3, 1941. He went overseas last September. Word of his death was received by his father on the victim's 24th birthday.

Surviving besides his father are his wife, Viola, and a two-year-old daughter in Athens, two sisters, Ruth and Helen, and a brother, Walter, all at home.

Before entering the service, Trumpower was employed at the W. E. Jones Furniture company here.

QUICK OK ON TAX BILL SEEN

additional $16,000,000,000 in taxes and savings.

Congressional ratification of the conference committee's work would end four months of bitter legislative wrangling in which the Ruml skip-a-full-year-for-everybody plan was endorsed formerly by the senate and rejected three times in the house, once by only four votes.

Doughton estimated the compromise plan would wipe out some $6,000,000,000 of obligations to the treasury—an estimated 64 or 65 per cent of the tax due on 1942 income.

Only the lesser of the 1942 or 1943 income tax obligations would be subject to full or partial abatement. That is to say, if a man's taxable income for 1942 were larger than his income this year, the abatement provisions would apply to 1943. In addition, a special provision was inserted to apply to "windfall" cases where income increased abnormally.

To avoid incquities at levels just above the $50 tax, a special "notch" feature was being worked out today by tax experts. The idea is to keep the man who owed somewhat more than $50 from paying a sizeable tax while the obligation of a man just under that figure would be cancelled.

For military and naval personnel, the bill would exclude $1,500 basic pay over and above the exemptions for other citizens. Accordingly, a member of the armed forces would have a basic exemption of $2,000 if single, $2,700 if married. Also, tax obligations outstanding at the death of a soldier or sailor would be cancelled.

Since the 20 per cent withholding tax is designed to capture only a 3 per cent victory tax and 17 per cent for the income tax fund, it will not fully settle the obligations of salary and wage earners whose income mounts into the higher surtax brackets. Single persons paid more than $2,700 a year and married persons paid $3,500 or more would have to estimate their total tax and pay quarterly on the amount above withholdings.

June 15 Income Tax Still Due, Friends

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Government and congressional tax experts today emphasized that the June 15 income tax installment must be paid regardless of the pay-as-you-go tax bill agreed upon by the senate-house conference.

Tax payments made last March 15 and next month will be treated as payments on the 1943 tax bill. The new tax measure forgives a year's taxes for those whose taxes are under $50 and abates 75 per cent of the 1942 or 1943 tax, whichever is less, for persons whose liability is over $50. The remaining 25 per cent must be paid in the next two years.

The self-employed, such as doctors and lawyers, must make quarterly estimates of their income and pay taxes accordingly. They are required to file their first declaration for 1943 on Sept. 15 and an amended declaration Dec. 15.

DEATH CLAIMS EDSEL FORD, 49

Chief Executive of Far-Flung Auto Empire Succumbs at Detroit Home.

head of the Ford company during World war one.

It was under Edsel's guidance, however, that Ford performed its tremendous conversion to war production, and from its plants flow 4-engined bombing planes, tanks, jeeps, amphibious jeeps, anti-tank units and much other war equipment.

Edsel was regarded as one of the leading executives among the world's industrial leaders, although his father's fame overshadowed him.

Edsel was born in Detroit Nov. 6, 1893, at the time his father was completing his first automobile in a brick barn in Detroit's Bagley avenue.

Educated in the public schools and Detroit university school, Edsel Ford began work in the plant of the Ford company in 1912. After five years of factory work he was elected vice president and in 1919 after the Ford family had bought out all minority stockholders he was made president.

He was married in 1916 to Eleanor Lawthian Clay, daughter of a Detroit merchant.

Edsel Ford did not always see eye to eye with his father on matters of business policy, but there was a deep-rooted bond of affection between them.

Henry Ford once observed: "Edsel has his own mind and his own ideas. He knows some things better than I do, and I know some things better than he does."

It was Edsel who persuaded his father to abandon the old "model T" car for one with a conventional gear shift, during the first World war he had charge of the construction of Eagle boats, the submarine chasers the company undertook to build on a volume basis; he was responsible also for the company's initial venture into aviation in the late twenties, and also developed the Ford company's Mercury model.

Edsel Ford was a devotee of motorboating, automobile racing, golf and photography and an ardent baseball fan.

Ford Empire Valued At $718,000,000

DETROIT —(INS)— The fabulous automobile empire which was headed by the late Edsel Bryant Ford since 1919, was valued at $718,000,000 on December 31, 1941.

This is the figure revealed in the Ford Motor company's statement to the Massachusett's Commission of Corporations as reported by Standard Corporation records.

The firm's balance sheet for the preceding year showed assets of $713,000,000. These are the latest official figures available.

TILLIE'S CREW BAGS A U-BOAT

Bomber Gets Official Credit On Second Sub Attack.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The crew of Tidewater Tillie, a Liberator bomber, was credited today with the certain destruction of a German submarine.

In an earlier encounter with another U-boat, the army listed Tidewater Tillie's victim as "probably sunk" because of inconclusive evidence.

But on the second sub there was no doubt. The army air forces anti-submarine command said photographs showed survivors struggling in the water after their U-boat was blown to pieces by Tidewater Tillie's depth charges.

Cancels Cadet Drill — Weekly drill session of the American Legion Cadets, scheduled for Thursday night at the Armory, has been cancelled, Cadet Capt. Russell E. Moore said today. The Cadets will participate in the Memorial day parade Sunday.

Reports Dog Bite — Mrs. Mozella Jones, rear of 161 West Sixth street, reported to police last night that she was attacked by a dog three days ago on North Franklin avenue near Sixth street. Police told the owner of the dog to keep the animal tied for 10 days.

Charge Withdrawn — Clarence R. Cotter, Lexington, was released today by Mansfield police after a charge of issuing a check with insufficient funds in Toledo was withdrawn in that city. Cotter was arrested last night in Lexington by Deputy Sheriff John Whitcomb and City Detective Lee Remy on a warrant from Toledo.

License Revoked—Howard Edward Belford, 591 Wayne street, pleaded guilty in municipal court today to a charge of failure to stop after an accident and Judge H. H. Schettler revoked his driver's license for one year and fined him $75 and costs. All but $5 of the fine was suspended when Belford agreed to pay for the damage to another car involved in the accident.

Enlist In Navy — Seven Richland county youths were sent from the Mansfield Navy recruiting station to Cleveland yesterday where they were given final examinations and sworn into the U. S. Naval Reserves. They are Calvin C. Perry and Harold Beaver of Shelby, Neil J. Boyle, Floyd C. Cotsamire; Harvey D. Ulmer, jr., and Kenneth A. Scheerer of Bucyrus and Paul A. Davis of Galion.

Jap Captive Says U. S. 'May Retake Pearl Harbor!'

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)— The Japanese, fed by preposterous propaganda, are unaware of what they face when they go into battle with American forces, Lieut. Cecil C. Humphreys of the U. S. Coast Guard said today.

Humphreys, now stationed in Cleveland, was supply officer of a coast guard manned transport which carried U. S. troops to Guadalcanal and kept them supplied.

"One night hundreds of Japs were landed from barges," he said. "They marched up a moonlit beach in perfect marching order. The marines mowed down all but 30 of them, who were taken prisoner. You can't tell me those Japs knew there were any marines on the island. They just weren't told.

"I asked one prisoner, a Japanese lieutenant, whether he thought Japan would win. He told me with complete seriousness that we might get Pearl Harbor back, but that we would never retake Australia and New Zealand."

U. S. Bombers Smash Italian Island Bases

Russian Front Erupts Again

Fighting Rages Around Novorossisk As Yanks Spread Devastation In Pantelleria, Sardinia, Sicily.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Reuters reported a German news agency dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio tonight as saying that German troops, yielding before a Soviet offensive, had evacuated a strip of the Kuban bridgehead several miles wide and a mile and a half deep.

(By Associated Press)

Pounding home the Allied warning to Italy to get out of the war before the final storm breaks, the U. S. bomber fleet in northwest Africa unloosed savage new attacks on Axis island bases in the Mediterranean as the Russian front, stirred to violent action on some sectors, provided signs the decisive days of 1943 are near.

Flying Fortresses again led the assaults on the Italian islands of Sicily, Sardinia and Pantelleria, spreading new fires and devastation on the great Axis air base at Comiso, Sicily, already scarred by many earlier visits. Medium bombers raked other Sicilian strongholds

American fighter planes lugged bombs to Sardinia and dropped them on shipping targets amid sprays of cannon and machine-gun fire, setting one Axis supply ship afire with a direct hit at Golfo Aranci. Villacidro airfield was hit again and bombs fell on hangars, barracks and aircraft on the ground, an Allied communique said. The power station at Tirso received a direct hit.

Other Warhawks kept the tiny, isolated island of Pantelleria under fire.

Both German and Russian reports told of an outbreak of furious fighting in the Kuban valley bridgehead around Novorossisk, where the Germans clung grimly to their last foothold in the Caucasus throughout the winter's battles, and the Germans said the Red army was in action far to the north.

The Russians announced 67 German planes had been shot down in air battles northeast of Novorossisk as the Red army beat back two battalions of Germans storming Russian positions. The German reports gave the impression that even heavier fighting was to be expected in this area and claimed 63 Russian planes were shot down yesterday.

The most interesting German report was the radio announcement the Russians had forced the main Nazi defenses southwest of Velikie Luki, only 90 miles from

TO a bullet, a general and a private look alike. In this war the generals must be in the forefront of the fighting—and the casualty rate among general officers is heavy

Not since the Civil War have there been so many casualties among American general officers In the 19 months in which we fought World War I, there were six casualties among general officers, only one of whom, Brig Gen Edward Sigerfoos, died In this war 38 U S generals and admirals have been listed as dead, wounded or prisoners thus far

Nine generals and five admirals have been killed.

The highest was Lieut Gen Frank M. Andrews, killed in a plane crash in Iceland with his aide, Brig. Gen. C. H. Barth.

The other generals belonged to the Army Air Forces Maj. Gen Herbert A Dargue in December, 1941, and Brig. Gen. Harold H. George, in April, 1942, lost their lives in airplane accidents en route to battle stations. Missing and presumed dead are Maj Gen. Clarence L. Tinker, off Midway, June, 1942; Brig Gen. Asa N. Duncan, off the European coast, November, 1942; Brig. Gen. Kenneth A. Walker and Howard K. Ramey, in the Southwest Pacific since early 1943 Brig. Gen. Alfred J. Lyon died of pneumonia incurred in action.

The Navy's casualty list includes three killed by the Japanese: Rear Adm. Isaac C. Kidd, aboard his flagship at Pearl Harbor, Rear Adms. Normal Scott and Daniel J. Callaghan, in the Battle of the Solomons. The Pacific submarine commander, Rear Adm. Robert H. English, died in a plane crash. Rear Adm. John W. Wilcox was swept overboard.

PROPOSES CITY GARAGE TO END PARKING JAMS

Traffic Commissioner Says 1,000-Car Structure Would Solve Problem.

Declares He'll Take Plan To Chamber of Commerce and City Councilmen.

Construction of a 1,000-car parking garage in the Mansfield downtown area in a post-war program to relieve traffic and parking congestion was proposed today by Frend C Boals, city traffic commissioner.

Boals said he had been considering the plan for several months and has decided it would afford the best solution for the traffic problem which is expected to become more serious as additional cars go into use after the war.

To help finance the project which might cost at least $100,000 the city will have to retain its parking meter fund surplus and add more to it from meter revenue, the traffic commissioner said.

He said he would take his proposal before the Chamber of Commerce, asking for its support, and later would submit his plan to city council. The $31,000 surplus in the parking meter fund "is only a part of the money the city needs to set up a traffic plan to meet its future needs," Boals said. He advocated building a surplus while revenue is available so the work can be done after the war.

Under Boals' plan, a city garage to house possibly 1,000 cars would be erected on a convenient downtown location where motorists could park an hour for 10 cents without worrying about getting a parking ticket. The convenient location would enable them to reach stores easily during the day and theaters and other amusements at night

He mentioned the United Presbyterian church site at Third and Mulberry streets as an ideal location for a garage. When the first garage proved its value and more funds were

Workers Meet Deadline Set By FDR Order

Trickle Back to Jobs Beginning at 6 A. M. With Full Shifts Expected At Machines This Afternoon; President Lashes Stoppage.

(By Associated Press)

AKRON—CIO unionists ended strikes at three major Akron rubber companies today, complying with the noon deadline set in a presidential ultimatum concerning a five-day production stoppage that threw more than 50,000 into idleness.

A small shift returned to war jobs at the B. F. Goodrich company just as the deadline approached after United Rubber Workers unionists there decided to observe the commander-in-chief's order.

The back-to-work movement started earlier at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and the Firestone Tire and Rubber company employes straggled into the plants throughout the morning and six hours after the first men reported on the 6 a. m. (EWT) shift, Firestone guards estimated 50 per cent of the force was on the job.

A company spokesman who declined use of his name said about 2,000 reported at the beginning of the first shift at Goodyear, and others straggled into the plants for several hours. General Tire and Rubber company reported a full working force on the job.

Only a few employes entered the Goodrich gates until after the 10 a. m. meeting of the company's day shift workers. George H. Bass, president of the Goodrich local, announced the men decided to resume production at once. The meeting also approved a June 16 deadline for reconsideration by the War Labor Board of a wage decision that touched off the stoppage.

Union leaders said they expected full shifts to report at 2 p. m. at all four plants. A Goodyear spokesman indicated normal operations could not be resumed immediately, however, asserting it would take "all day and a good part of tomorrow to balance up our production."

After urging Goodrich workers to return to their jobs, Bass de-

MACHINISTS TO BREAK WITH AFL

565,000 Members of Union Will Withdraw Because of Jurisdiction Row.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Harvey W. Brown of the International Association of Machinists announced today that his union, with a membership of 565,000, will terminate Monday its 48-year affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

The withdrawal climaxes a 30-year jurisdictional dispute of the Machinists with the Carpenters' union, the Operating Engineers union, and the Electric Railway Employes of America.

Brown told a press conference the situation has "now become intolerable."

He said the union had been unable to get satisfaction from AFL President William Green or the AFL executive council.

He quoted a letter to Green in which he said the union was taking the step "with sincere regret" and emphasized:

"However, in leaving the American Federation of Labor, we are firmly resolved to continue one of the traditional policies of the International Association of Machinists—to respect the jurisdiction of and co-operate with the bona fide trade unions who respect our jurisdiction."

Commending rubber workers' union officials in Akron for ordering tire plant employes to return to their jobs, Desmond Walker, president of Mansfield Local 17 of the United Rubber Workers of America, today sent a telegram to Sherman Dalrymple, Akron, international president of the United Rubber workers, in which he said that "it is only through such action as yours that labor unions can survive and that we may win the war as well as the peace."

Walker, an employe of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, said the message was sent on the recommendation of the executive board of Local URW which met last night.

DISAGREE OVER TAX AGREEMENT

Conferees Meet To Decide What They Decided About Pay-Go.

PAPERS TO LIST GROCERY PRICES

OPA To Provide Monthly Data on Fair Charges.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration has decided to supply to newspapers monthly lists of official prices and required ration points for groceries, a proposal that won the immediate endorsement of the Committee of Newspaper Groups.

OPA outlined the plan yesterday at a meeting with publishers and their spokesmen, and said the newspapers could solicit advertising and build up special sections or pages around the information.

The lists will go out to about 300 cities, beginning July 1.

CHURCH REPLIES

Denounces Nazi Broadcast as Purposeless Propaganda.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The office of war information reported today that the Vatican radio had denounced as "propaganda" an assertion by the Nazi-controlled Paris radio last Sunday that the Catholic church had a "crushing responsibility in unleashing the present war."

The Vatican broadcast, which the OWI said was in the German language and directed to the German people, declared it was "impossible to see" how such assertions could be useful "even for purposes of propaganda," but added:

"One thing is certain—it is not the Vatican which has declared this war and it is not the Catholic church in Germany which has brought this, her fate, upon herself. Everyone knows that."

Week's Pay Takes Place of Vacation At Plant In City

Under a vacation plan which is expected to attract considerable attention in Mansfield war plants, the Art Rattan Works, Inc., today announced that company employes will receive an extra week's pay this year but will be asked to work straight through the summer without time off.

The plant has closed down for a week during recent summers to give all employes a vacation at the same time, but to do that this year would seriously delay the production of essential war materials, Ralph A. Shelton, vice president, said.

"In view of the labor shortage and the large amount of materials we are required to turn out, we decided to eliminate vacations entirely this year," he said. "If we closed down now the war department probably would complain immediately."

To compensate workers for forfeiting their vacations, Shelton said all employes who are on the company payroll June 1 and continue through Sept. 15 will get a week's pay in addition to his regular earnings. Approximately 100 employes are expected to be affected by the plan.

OPA MANAGER

Maxon Favored as Shake-Up Looms In Price Agency.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Lou R. Maxon, head of a Detroit advertising agency who has been serving without compensation as chief information officer of the Office of Price Administration, is being considered for the new post of "general manager" of OPA, reliable sources said today.

If he accepts, the appointment will be among drastic changes in OPA personnel, policy and operations to be announced soon.

Unless last-minute changes occur, it was understood, the new program may be revealed within 48 hours. Fewer regulations, simplification of those already in force and stricter enforcement of the entire price and rationing operation are expected.

OPA Official Sees Driving Ban Extension To Save Autos.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The entire nation may eventually be brought under the pleasure driving ban already in force in the east, "but if that should happen, it probably would be to save automobiles rather than tires or gasoline," L. R. Cox, district conservation officer of the Office of Price Administration, said today.

"The time is approaching when we will have a good stock of synthetic rubber tires, but we won't have cars on which to put them," he said.

Hungry for Spuds? There'll Be Plenty for Sale by June 15

If you've been among hundreds of Mansfielders who have gone potato-hungry in the last several weeks due to high prices and the scarce supply, here's good news.

There'll be plenty of new potatoes on the market by June 15 and, because of a bumper crop, you won't be paying anywhere near 10 cents a pound for them. A dime a pound has been the general price for some time now.

Wholesalers and retailers said today that this year's bumper crop, estimated as being 5,000,000 bushels larger than the crop last year, will be entirely for consumption here at home since early potatoes are more perishable than others and cannot be shipped to our forces overseas.

Severe freezes delayed the maturity of the early potatoes causing acute shortages in some areas and high prices in others. With the arrival of the new crop prices are expected to go lower—much lower.

Mansfield dealers said today that the prices have already begun to decline and can be expected to decrease gradually.

They predicted that prices will probably be drastically reduced around the middle of June. The reduction will be the direct result of the large crop and the fact that abnormal weather conditions have caused the crops in California, South Carolina, North Carolina, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, Alabama and other states to be ready for market simultaneously.

Calls for Probe of $1,500 Reported Paid to Rep. Bender

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND—Thomas M. Carey, clerk of the Cleveland board of elections, said today that the board and the office of the Cuyahoga county prosecutor will be asked to inquire into payments of $1,500 which the Cleveland Press said was made to Rep. George H. Bender, R., Ohio, by John L. Schmeller, indicted former president of the National Bronze and Aluminum company.

The press said that under Ohio law it is a criminal offense for any corporation to donate any money, "directly or indirectly," to any political party, committee, organization, or for any candidate for political office.

Schmeller, indicted earlier this month by a federal grand jury with six other top officials of National Bronze on charges of fraud in connection with government contracts, made out the checks to Bender on Aug. 7, 1942, and Oct. 30, 1942, the Press said. One check was for $1,000, the Press reported.

Schmeller said he did not know

The "Mad Russian" joined the club with a platform promising to pull the Cubs out of the National league cellar, but he went hitless in four trips to the plate yesterday as the Chicagoans sank deeper into the cellar by absorbing a 4 to 2 setback at the hands of the New York Giants.

Whereas poetry's "Mighty Casey" merely fanned to plunge Mudville into doom, Novikoff fizzled repeatedly as the cheers of 5,6638 fans that greeted his first appearance at the plate turned to boos when he came up for the fourth time in the eighth inning.

Novikoff grounded feebly to Mickey Witek at second base on his first time at bat. The second time up he popped out to Dick Bartell at shortstop On his third appearance he had a chance to make amends and emerge a hero There were two out and runners on first and third and the Cubs needed a pair of tallies to knot the score Novikoff ran the count to three-and-two and flied out to Buster Maynard in deep center. On his last trip he flied to right-field

All Star Grid Classic Moved

Game With Redskins Goes To Dyche Stadium.

CHICAGO—(U P)—The 10th annual all-star football game between the Washington Redskins, 1942 professional champions, and a selected squad of college stars will be held Aug. 25 at Dyche stadium, Evanston, Ill., it was announced today.

The Chicago Tribune, sponsor of the annual charity contest, said the game would be played at the Northwestern university stadium instead of at Soldier field, Chicago, to "avoid excessive charges levied by the city park board" and to restrict attendance to residents of the Chicago metropolitan area.

The capacity of Dyche stadium is 48,000 less than half the number of persons which attended last year's all-star contest at Soldier field.

For the first time, the sponsors announced, no fan poll will be held to determine the make-up of the college team In addition, it was revealed, the squad membership will not be restricted to graduating seniors.

Frank E Richert of the University of Illinois, secretary of the Big Ten faculty athletic committee, announced that conference players who are in military service may receive money for playing in the game without sacrificing their eligibility. Each player on the all-star team is given $150 above expenses by the sponsors.

Charley (Red) Ruffing won 258 games while losing 216 in his big league career.

Have Meeting at Memorial Hall

Four candidates were elected to membership at the regular meeting of the McLaughlin Woman's Relief corps, 26, held at the Memorial hall Wednesday night.

Civilian defense war service has been requested and members are cooperating as hostesses at the Ohio Public Service company and the Ohio Fuel and Gas company.

Members reported attending Memorial services at St. John's Evangelical church. Arrangements are being made to attend Memorial services Sunday, May 30.

Mrs. Mary Somers, a former member, who has lived in Springfield, Mass., during the past year, was present at the meeting.

Betrothal Told of Herbert W. Fraser

The engagement of Miss Amanda Chase Hilles, Cedar Grove, Pa., to Air Cadet Herbert Ward Fraser, grandson of Mrs. Susan Ward, Bartley avenue, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hilles.

Miss Hilles, who graduated from Germantown Friends school, is a senior at Smith college. Air Cadet Fraser, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Freeman Frasher, Wallingford, Pa., is in training at St. Mary's college. He attended Sidcot school, Somersetshire, England, and graduated from George school and Swarthmore colleges.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Freeman Fraser formerly resided in Mansfield.

SELECTIONS BY BOOK-OF-MONTH CLUB ON LIST

'Fifth Seal' and 'Year of Decision' To Be Released at City Library.

Two Book-of-the-Month club selections head the list of new fiction and non-fiction which will be on Mansfield Public Library shelves Saturday. They are THE FIFTH SEAL by Mark Landau and THE YEAR OF DECISION: 1846, by Bernard DeVoto.

The setting for Landau's book is western Europe; the time, the ominous and turbulent years before the second World war. The principal people are the members of a Soviet embassy on a mission to the luxurious capitals of the west. Their lives interweave with those of the men and women they meet in a wisely satiric story rich in dramatic episodes.

"The Year of Decision: 1846" is outstanding in the field of non-fiction. It consists primarily of a selected number of narratives to illustrate the variety of frontier experiences and the national importance of western expansion, one of the most thrilling periods of American history.

The principal character of GEORGIA BOY by Erskine Caldwell is twelve years old and the household in which he is brought up includes his father, a somewhat strong-minded and itinerant character; his mother, who takes in washing and handles the practical matters of paying bills while trying to raise her young son and cope with her husband, some aggravating goats, game cocks, and a lazy colored yard boy named Handsome Brown, who has a hand in practically everthing. Though the episodes are humorous in tone, they are balanced by sentiment, irony, and the ordinary occurrences of everyday life.

GREAT SMITH by Edison Marshall, author of "Benjamin Blake," is the story of Captain John Smith who is known to Americans for his doings in Virginia and for his affair with Pocahontas. That episode, however, important as it was, was not all, or even a major part of the adventurous career of this amazing man—for his life's ambition—to reach the Indies and to do it by discovering the Northwest Passage—led him to many adventures in strange places and three colorful love affairs.

Other fiction includes A CERTAIN DOCTOR FRENCH, Seifert; FOR ALL MEN BORN, Mackay; ECHO OF A BOMB, Siller.

Betty Wilson in her book, MIRACLE IN HELLAS, graphically and vividly tells the story of Greece under Axis occupation through the story of the people who took part in it. A picture of a country subjugated by Axis armies forms the first part of the book. The author then traces the history of the last days of Greece's war against the Axis—the final events which led to collapse—the conditions which led to the famine now gripping the country, the underground movement and its strength and accomplishments today.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A CURMUDGEON by Harold L. Ickes is an unusual autobiography of a man in public life. The book contains Mr. Ickes' story of his years of battle with Colonel McCormick of the Chicago Tribune" — chapters on oil, and a vivid, ruthless account of politics —both city (Chicago) and national —of the last forty years.

WAR DISCOVERS ALASKA by Joseph Driscoll, of the "New York Herald Tribune," is a first-hand, eye-witness account of what is happening on our last frontier. He tells about incredible achievements in this hard and lusty country, and urges that we recognize Alaska as a "second front in our own backyard," as a bridge to Asia and the nearest jumping off place for Tokyo.

Other non-fiction includes: Last Poems of Eleanor Wylie, Benet (Wylie), The book (The Story of Printing and Bookmaking), McMurtrie; Stina, the story of a Cook, Smith, The Yankee Cook Book, Wolcott; Applied Leathercraft, Gronemann; The Golden Age of Colonial Culture, Wertenbaker; Silk Screen Color Printing, Sternberg; Climate Makes the Man, Mills; Physiological Hygiene, Hickman; Health Education of the Public, Bauer and Hull.

STILL CHAMPION

LOS ANGELES — (U.P.) — The California Shipbuilding company remains the champion ship-producing company of the world. The Terminal Island plant delivered 15 Liberty ships of 10,500 tons each, launched 14 others, and laid the keels for 14 others during the month of February.

EXPECT COUNCIL TO GET STREET PLANS TUESDAY

$74,000 Route 42 Project To Be Submitted; Repair Work Starts In City.

While workmen moved into the Woodland area today to repair winter-damaged streets, negotiations on a $74,000 project involving the widening and resurfacing of South Main street and Lexington avenue and resurfacing of Marion avenue were nearing completion and plans were expected to be ready for approval by city council next Tuesday night.

After conferring with state highway department officials in Columbus, Mayor W. J. Locke said he believed the city had made "a satisfactory deal with the state" for financing the project. He said figures showing how much the work will cost the city could not be released until the plan is approved by State Highway Director Hal G. Soure.

Most of the cost of the project will go into work on the intersection of South Main street and Lexington avenue where the streets will be widened and pedestrian safety islands will be built. Resurfacing of Marion avenue from Glessner avenue to Cline avenue, included in the project, will cost $8,500.

The city has decided to let the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company do the street patching, the mayor said, because the firm can spread asphalt materials for $3.90 a ton while it would cost the city more than $4 a ton to do the work with city equipment and men.

With favorable weather, most of the patching should be completed in 10 days, he added. Repair work has been completed in South Boulevards and the crew of workers is ready to patch the city streets that were hit hardest by freezing weather.

PUT ON DANCE

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(INS)—Navajo Indian war chants and yells pierced the air at Camp Elliott, when a group of Arizona and New Mexico Indians, now in the U. S. Marine Corps, performed their ancient ceremonies for the entertainment of their fellow Leathernecks.

More than forty Navajos volunteered to stage the show after they had sent for their costumes, which were mailed by their families on the reservations.

CORRESPONDENT TOLD JAPS ARE FOUL FIGHTERS

Treat 'Em Rough, Says Veteran Who Praises Admiral Halsey as 'the Champ.'

By ART COHN
(INS Staff Correspondent)

HONOLULU—The new war correspondent going in met the old war correspondent coming out.

"It will be the greatest experience of your life, kid," said the veteran, "but you'll pay for it. Next time I see you, if I ever do, your hair will be gray, you'll age ten years in six months. You'll be scared out there, you'll get malaria and probably dengue, you'll get shot at, you may get killed and all I can tell you is be tough, they play for keeps.

"Never give a Jap the benefit of doubt, he gets awfully brave when your back is turned. Go up to the front lines often, that's where the stories are, get yourself shot at as soon as possible, the first time's the toughest. Make 'em take you on bombing raids, you'll learn to love those pilots. Don't get me wrong, no sense being foolhardy, go in close but not too close, you don't have to be a peeping-tom.

"Wait until you meet Admiral Halsey, he's only the champ, that's all. He's all man, mostly heart. He hates the Jap with an intensity you won't believe. He's one of our guys, a regular, he talks our language. I'll never forget the day he told me, 'at the start, we were fighting with the thinnest of shoestrings. Now we have the whole boot and we'll kick the hell out of the Jap with it."

"The best stories you won't be able to write. Too bloody, too strong for weak stomachs back home. They don't know what war is, they haven't seen 500 wounded soldiers at a field hospital machine-gunned in their beds, not one spared. They think it's a civilized war according to some semblance of rules. You'll find out, kid, the Jap is a rotten, foul fighter. He isn't a good fighter, but he'll do a lot of damage because he'll knee you, gouge you, stab you in the back. You can't use Marquis of Queensbury rules on him.

"The best correspondents don't always get the best stories, luck a very important factor. You may not get a yarn for months but keep your eyes open, one might fall into your lap that will be better than anything you've done in the last ten years. Play it straight, nobody pulls any fast ones in this league and stays around very long.

"Most important, be tough, I can't repeat that too much. You're wearing an army uniform, kid, you're in this scrap and don't forget, the Jap hasn't very good eyesight, he can't see your correspondents' brassards very well, especially the new ones, they're only an inch square.

"One day I went up to the lines with a couple of marines. Snipers plugged both of them, a bullet whistled past my ear and I hit the dirt. As I rolled on my shoulder my pipe fell out of my mouth. I started looking for it and couldn't find it. That made me mad. I stood up and walked around looking, until I found it. It was the best pipe I ever had Cost me a buck.

"Good luck, kid, and remember, be tough. You'll be scared out there but don't be afraid, blows received in fighting never hurt until afterward."

The new war correspondent suddenly felt a little older.

BUYS WAR BOND

SEYMOUR, Ind— (UP) —Pvt. George Gurdjian is doing everything that he can to help win the war so that he can return to his costume jewelry manufacturing business.

Private Gurdjian, who was born in Turkey in 1900, recently bought a $5,000 war bond. He automatically became a member of Indiana's exclusive Twelve Hundred club, a "limit" purchase organization.

At present Private Gurdjian is assigned to the Seymour army air base attached to the 44th squadron. A brother also is in the armed forces. Another brother is working in a shipyard.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Crack Coaches Teach Marines How To Shoot

WASHINGTON— (U.P.) —Little wonder that Marines are excellent rifle shots. They're taught by rifle champions.

Typical of the top-notch instructors is Gunnery Sgt. Russell F. Seitzinger of Pittsburgh, Pa., who joined the corps in 1922. He has since won several world's records and international shooting match trophies.

From 1927 through 1930, a Marine Corps statement said Seitzinger took high honors as a member of the United States Rifle Team competing in the world championship matches. During 1929, in Stockholm, he faced Germany's ace shots in standing free fire, and beat them. In Antwerp in 1930, he won first place for kneeling free rifle fire against competition from all the great nations.

But Seitzinger, who is rifle coach at Marine Barracks, Parris Island, S. C., is not exceptional among the instructors now working on marine ranges all of them possess detailed knowledge of rifles gained from years of experience and from countless competitive shooting matches, it was said.

AN APPLE FOR EVE --

CHAPTER XIX

But you haven't told me about rc. Where is he and what's doing?" Loveday said.

'He's with us today and he ght to be here any minute," nt Laura said. "Marc's been ered a post in the Station hos- al at Camp Gurney. Isn't it e to have your family remem- ed in this way!"

Marc's going to be right here r Indian Hill!" Loveday ex- med, her face radiant. "What nderful things can happen, ry," she added eagerly as her band, warm and tired from a lk uphill on the enervating ing day, came up to the steps the terrace. "Here are the St. orges—I think you all know ry. Fan, you remember meet- my husband. Mrs. Fox, Lar- my adored Fanny. And what you think? Dr. Villard, you ember, who sent Toots his ch? Well, he may be here at camp in the medical corps." Grand," Larry said the word vily, unenthusiastically, as he down with his small son on his es.

n another minute Marc Villard ve up in his car.

have something to tell !" Marc said, comfortable in old basket chair now and en- ing a long glass of clear well water. "This is the first time I have seen your house, Loveday, in the flesh. Do you know why I say 'in the flesh'?"

"Except that people do when they've heard about a thing," Loveday answered, laughing.

"Yes, but I say 'in the flesh'," Marc pursued, with his little touch of French accent and the smile that was so pleasant on his dark face, "because I have dreamed myself here many, many times! But I mean it! I have come up these old brick steps with the grass growing through them, and I have gone in that door"—he pointed to the open french window that led to the dining room —"and there has been a black girl with a lamp and a basket of —yes—persimmons—on the table."

"Marc, your subconscious evidently has leanings toward Persian splendor!" Fanny said in a general laugh. But Loveday, who had turned a little pale, was looking strangely at Marc, and she did not smile.

"But, Marc—Marc," she stammered, "there is a statue of a Nubian girl there in the dining room, or there was until Larry and I put it in the attic. And in persimmon season my grandfather always had a blue bowl of our own persimmons there on a side table!"

"You're Peter Ibbetson, Marc," Warren St. George said. "You dream true!"

"Now how could that be?" Marc said in a low tone. "Will you give me a minute?" he put his hand tight over his eyes, bowed his head. Somebody spoke, but it was evident from her look that Loveday was not hearing. She sat staring at Marc in fascination. There was a moment of complete stillness on the terrace that was dappled with green light and shade. The air was warm and sweet. Somewhere in the barnyard a rooster crowed lustily, and they could hear the laughter of small girls out of sight.

"Delia!" Marc said suddenly, looking up. "In the dream it is Delia and a horse named Peg." He got to his feet. "In the dream," he said, very low, as if speaking in a dream, "Delia would let me put my arms deep into the trough and Peg would rumple the water with his nose. Up there—beyond the dairy—My God, where am I, Loveday, where am I? Am I dreaming now?"

Loveday stood up, too, facing him, speaking as if they two were alone on the terrace together.

"Delia was Delia Dillon, my nurse," she said. "She stayed until Grandfather died. And Peg was Pegasus, grandfather's big horse. No. No, I don't think you're dreaming, Marc! I think you're awake."

The others exchanged stupefied glances. But Loveday and Marc never moved their eyes from each other.

"You couldn't dream all that!" Loveday whispered.

"But I was born in France. I did not come to this country until I was fifteen!"

"But you couldn't dream all that!" She turned to the older man. "Uncle Warren, how could he dream all that?"

Warren St. George spoke hoarsely. They were all standing now in a knot together.

"Your grandfather and I saw your brother Owen's body, Loveday. Your mother was unable to go. We identified it. We brought her home the little suit he had been wearing."

"I know. She always kept it. But—but he was not found for over a year!" Loveday stammered.

"But surely it would be too extraordinary a coincidence to have had another five-year-old lost in the woods!" Rodney St. George said.

Loveday was clinging with both hands to one of Marc's.

"You remember, don't you?" she said. "You remember it all, Delia and Peg and the persimmons!"

"Yes," Marc said simply. "I remember it all. I lived here." He looked into Loveday's eyes; she was a little the taller; both faces were pale. "Don't be frightened," he said, "but this much I know. It was no dream. I lived here. My father and my mother lived here, and Wing Foo—and Annie Lum—"

Loveday looked about at the circle of faces. Her face twisted, and tears began t run down her cheeks. She put her head down on Warren St. George's shoulder, and he tightened an arm about her.

"I don't get it," Larry said slowly, his son in his arms, his bewildered, half-suspicious look going about the group.

"I don't think any one of us gets it!" Aunt Laura said in a flutter of nervous laughter. They all sat down again.

"What do you remember of your being in Paris and being adopted, Marc?" the older man asked.

"Why-why, that we had a house at Saint-Cloud and I went to school there, and Tante Rose told me—or I knew—or she told me part and I knew the rest—that she and Valerie—Valerie was my nurse who died—had found me after the war and that my father and mother were dead and I was to be an American boy. We went to England: we were two years in England. I was twelve then, and then back to Paris and Italy and to China, and then when I was fifteen she said I must go to college in America, and so we came to Santa Barbara and I was coached for college and took my pre-med at Stanford."

"You had no relatives in France?"

"A lot of us little fellows had no relatives in nineteen-eighteen."

"She—Mrs. Rose Weir—went over there immediately after the war?"

"In nineteen-fifteen. She had lived there before the war."

"Hugh Gurney was lost in 'fifteen!" Warren St. George said. "Through what bureau, by what authority did she get hold of you?" he continued.

"As, that I wouldn't know. Valerie, who brushed Tante Rose's clothes and took me to school, used to kiss me and cry sometimes, and, thinking it all over since I've been grown, I've sometimes wondered if perhaps I was her child or her sister's child—something like that. I've asked my aunt, but she always knows no more than I do. If Valerie knew anything of me, apparently she never told my aunt."

"But you're talking," Loveday said breathlessly, "as if you believed your knowing this place, knowing everything about it, was all a dream!"

"Oh, no," he answered with a bewildered little shake of his head, "I know now it wasn't a dream. The French part was a dream!"

"Mrs. Weir is in Santa Barbara, Marc?" Warren St. George asked.

"In a sanitarium there—very comfortable, with nurses—but an invalid. I see her whenever I go south, and she knows me, but she lives in a world of her own. They read to her and bring her fresh handkerchiefs and little trays. Everything is slipping away from her now."

"We will have to see her," the older man said. "We will arrange it at once."

Marc rose and crossed the little space that lay between his chair and Loveday's. He knelt down and took her two hands.

"Will you have me for your brother, Loveday?" he asked. Her tears came again, and she laid her forehead against his without speaking.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS DO VITAL WAR JOB

Many Risk Lives to Act as 'Guinea Pigs' In Scientific Tests.

(By International News Service)

DENISON, Ia. — Conscientious objectors assigned to a work camp a mile south of Denison spend their time at "work of national importance under civilian direction."

Arnold L. Krause, director of the camp, and Cecil A. Saddoris of the United States soil conservation service, who superintend soil projects on which the "conchies" labor, said the men are carrying on jobs begun under the Civilian Conservation Corps much more efficiently than did the CCC youths.

The Denison camp is one of 20 objector centers operated by the Mennonite church, from whose membership come a majority of the 3,000 men of military age in 40 camps throughout the country. Altogether the government has certified 7,939 conscientious objectors.

The Mennonites for several hundred years have refused military service and their attitude has brought hardship to members of the sect at various times.

At the Denison camp 170 ablebodied men are quartered in former CCC barracks and are continuing soil conservation work begun by the corps. They are for the most part husky farm youths much more familiar with the type of work being done than were the CCC enrollees.

In addition to their regular work, however, conscientious objectors have volunteered for various scientific experiments fully as dangerous to their lives as military service would be.

The most spectacular of these experiments is one in which four conscientious objectors will act as human guinea pigs in a study of the control of typhus-carrying lice, mass killer in almost every war.

Eleven men have volunteered for the experiments. They will go to the University of Illinois at Urbana, where four of them will be selected for dietary and temperature tests.

From other similar camps conscientious objectors have been sent to various universities for experiments in which scientists are attempting to gain information of value to the war effort. In one of these, two men are drinking sea water to see how much the human body can safely stand.

In other laboratories men are spending long hours in reduced pressure chambers. These experiments, covering many weeks, will provide information needed in high altitude flying.

Men have gone from the Denison camp to reforestration projects in the northwest, and recently 20 were sent to Wisconsin to help dairy farmers facing a labor shortage.

Consistent with their beliefs, objectors in the Denison camp have declined to purchase war bonds or take part in scrap drives.

Pennsylvania to Draft Prisoners For War Service

PHILADELPHIA— (INS) —Following a plan initiated by Pennsylvania prison officials, the induction of prisoners into the armed services will be applied on a nation-wide basis as part of the Selective Service System, according to Col George H Hafer, acting director of Pennsylvania Selective Service

Following is the procedure which will be used:

Any prisoner of military age may volunteer for induction. If the special draft board panel decides an inmate has been rehabilitated, he is classified in the same manner as any other registrant.

If the prisoner's classification is 1-A, he may apply to the courts for a parole. If paroled, he may be releasedd in order that he may be accepted.

Col. Hafer pointed out that "the case of each registrant is given the most thorough consideration and in no case is the registrant inmate classified 1-A unless it is believed he would be a valuable member of the armed forces."

THEATERS

Aerial Epic.

The screen's smallest aerial epic is to be found in scenes in Columbia's "The More the Merrier," George Stevens' timely new comedy now at the Ohio. As background action for Washington, D. C., apartment roof-top love scene of the principals, Joan Arthur and Joel McCrea, six small boys fly string-held miniature planes through air combat maneuvers. The picture, which ends tomorrow, deals with the timely and vital subject wartime Washington's crowded living conditions. Miss Arthur plays the part of a Washington secretary who rents one room of her tiny apartment to Charles Coburn, who, in turn, rents half his room to McCrea.

Nation's Capital In 60's.

Washington, D. C., during the days when war surged close to the suburb's of the nation's capital, is the locale and period of much of the action of M. G. M's "Tennessee Johnson," now showing at the Madison. The picture, an historical romance, stars Van Heflin, Lionel Barrymore and Ruth Hussey. Historical incidents, including the assassination of President Lincoln, Johnson's inauguration, and later his impeachment hearing are dramatic episodes of the film. Other Madison attraction is, "The McGuerins From Brooklyn."

Top Critic.

Joan Bennett had to be good in "Margin For Error" because her severest critic was a constant visitor on the set. At 72, the visitor is still a pretty good action in his own right. His name is Richard Bennett, Joan's father, one of the most illustrious names of the American stage. Joan shares top billing with Milton Berle and Otto Preminger in the film now at the Ritz. Second attraction is "St. Louis Blues."

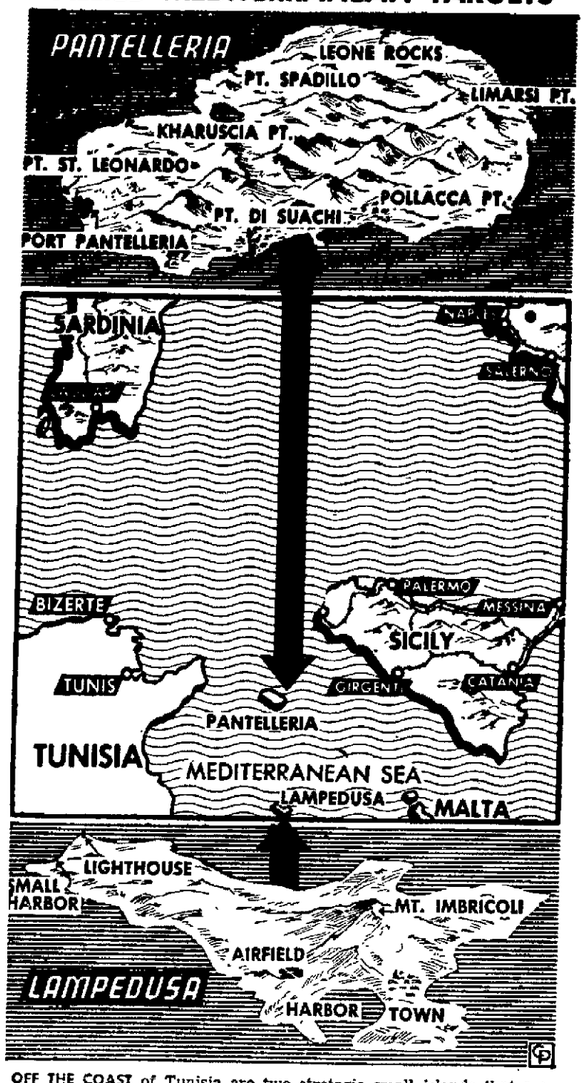
ALLIED MEDITERRANEAN TARGETS



OFF THE COAST of Tunisia are two strategic small islands that are being pounded regularly by Allied bombers. The constant bombing of Pantelleria (top) and Lampedusa (bottom) may be a prelude to eventual occupation by the Allies or may neutralize their defensive positions. Both islands, according to military experts, would serve as excellent stepping stones to Sicily and bring the Allied forces closer to the mainland. CORRESPONDENT TOLD JAPS ARE FOUL FIGHTERS

Treat 'Em Rough, Says Veteran Who Praises Admiral Halsey as 'the Champ.'

By ART COHN
(INS Staff Correspondent)

HONOLULU—The new war correspondent going in met the old war correspondent coming out.

"It will be the greatest experience of your life, kid," said the veteran, "but you'll pay for it. Next time I see you, if I ever do, your hair will be gray, you'll age ten years in six months. You'll be scared out there, you'll get malaria and probably dengue, you'll get shot at, you may get killed and all I can tell you is be tough, they play for keeps.

"Never give a Jap the benefit of doubt, he gets awfully brave when your back is turned. Go up to the front lines often, that's where the stories are, get yourself shot at as soon as possible, the first time's the toughest. Make 'em take you on bombing raids, you'll learn to love those pilots. Don't get me wrong, no sense being foolhardy, go in close but not too close, you don't have to be a peeping-tom.

"Wait until you meet Admiral Halsey, he's only the champ, that's all. He's all man, mostly heart. He hates the Jap with an intensity you won't believe. He's one of our guys, a regular, he talks our language. I'll never forget the day he told me, 'at the start, we were fighting with the thinnest of shoestrings. Now we have the whole boot and we'll kick the hell out of the Jap with it."

"The best stories you won't be able to write. Too bloody, too strong for weak stomachs back home. They don't know what war is, they haven't seen 500 wounded soldiers at a field hospital machine-gunned in their beds, not one spared. They think it's a civilized war according to some semblance of rules. You'll find out, kid, the Jap is a rotten, foul fighter. He isn't a good fighter, but he'll do a lot of damage because he'll knee you, gouge you, stab you in the back. You can't use Marquis of Queensbury rules on him.

"The best correspondents don't always get the best stories, luck a very important factor. You may not get a yarn for months but keep your eyes open, one might fall into your lap that will be better than anything you've done in the last ten years. Play it straight, nobody pulls any fast ones in this league and stays around very long.

"Most important, be tough, I can't repeat that too much. You're wearing an army uniform, kid, you're in this scrap and don't forget, the Jap hasn't very good eyesight, he can't see your correspondents' brassards very well, especially the new ones, they're only an inch square.

"One day I went up to the lines with a couple of marines. Snipers plugged both of them, a bullet whistled past my ear and I hit the dirt. As I rolled on my shoulder my pipe fell out of my mouth. I started looking for it and couldn't find it. That made me mad. I stood up and walked around looking, until I found it. It was the best pipe I ever had. Cost me a buck.

"Good luck, kid, and remember, be tough. You'll be scared out there but don't be afraid, blows received in fighting never hurt until afterward."

The new war correspondent suddenly felt a little older.

BUYS WAR BOND

SEYMOUR, Ind.— (U.P.) —Pvt. George Gurdjian is doing everything that he can to help win the war so that he can return to his costume jewelry manufacturing business.

Private Gurdjian, who was born in Turkey in 1900, recently bought a $5,000 war bond. He automatically became a member of Indiana's exclusive Twelve Hundred club, a "limit" purchase organization.

At present Private Gurdjian is assigned to the Seymour army air base attached to the 44th squadron. A brother also is in the armed forces. Another brother is working in a shipyard.

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Crack Coaches Teach Marines How To Shoot

WASHINGTON— (U.P.) —Little wonder that Marines are excellent rifle shots. They're taught by rifle champions.

Typical of the top-notch instructors is Gunnery Sgt. Russell F. Seitzinger of Pittsburgh, Pa., who joined the corps in 1922. He has since won several world's records and international shooting match trophies.

From 1927 through 1930, a Marine Corps statement said Seitzinger took high honors as a member of the United States Rifle Team competing in the world championship matches. During 1929, in Stockholm, he faced Germany's ace shots in standing free fire, and beat them. In Antwerp in 1930, he won first place for kneeling free rifle fire against competition from all the great nations.

But Seitzinger, who is rifle coach at Marine Barracks, Parris Island, S. C., is not exceptional among the instructors now working on marine ranges all of them possess detailed knowledge of rifles gained from years of experience and from countless competitive shooting matches, it was said.

Prophet of Pearl Harbor Sees Jap-China Peace Move

an Who Revealed Plans For Hawaii Sneak Blow Makes New Prediction.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Testimony at Japan would seek a separ- e peace with China and at- k the United States this sum- r was referred to the high nmand today by Chairman ckstein (D., N. Y.) of the house migration committee.

The testimony came from the ne man who gave Dickstein's nmittee two months' advance rning of Japanese plans to at- k Pearl Harbor — Kilsoo K. an, Washington representative the Korean National Front deration and Sino-Korean Peo- 's league.

"If only 50 per cent of what an told us yesterday is true," ckstein declared, "this govern- nt should heed his warning."

The New Yorker said Haan id submitted to his committee October 1941 detailed maps id documents showing the apanese plan of attack in the acific. But, he added, persons ose to Hawaiian government that time had accused Haan being a "rabble-rouser" and "trying to create trouble" in awaii.

Haan's information so far, Dickn said, has been "fairly ac- ate" and has been reported to proper officials.

Haan told the committee yesday that Premier Tojo dised during a party at his Tokyo dence that Rear Admiral Kātaro Miyazaki had been chosen command an invading naval e against the United States that Gen. Shunroku Hata was head a landing expedition.

Haan said Gen. Jiro Minami reported to have told the Jaese privy council last Decemthat Japan would be ready strike this country between e and October, 1943.

ist of speculative talks in Ja- . Haan said in a prepared ement, was that Miayazaki ld have at his commnd 60 cent of the imperial navy in planned attack, that General a would have more than 100,- picked troops from the Kwang army; and that submarine air strength would play the t important part in the at- .

he Japanese, Haan said at point, plan to send native s to subjugated areas and ry them off to local men in eneral Japanization program.

MRS. DEMPSEY ILL AT HOTEL

Nurse, Doctor Attend Her as Divorce Case Hearings Are Suspended.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mrs Hannah Williams Dempsey, defendant in Lieut. Commander Jack Dempsey's divorce action, was attended by physicians and a nurse in her Hotel Navarro suite today as her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Gomez, described the former revue star as the victim of "a complete nervous collapse."

After a two-day start, Dempsey's action and Hannah's counter-suit for divorce were adjourned until Tuesday. Her attorney, Gerald Donovan, asked for the adjournment and submitted a physician's affidavit that Mrs. Dempsey was ill.

Arthur F. Driscoll, the former heavyweight champion's attorney, said today that he would "strenuously oppose any further adjournments." Dempsey has accused his wife of intimacies with Benny Woodall, boxing promoter and trainer, and Lew Jenkins, former lightweight champion.

In the two days of trial, during which Dempsey was introducing his evidence, a parade of domestics and former associates of Mrs. Dempsey testified there were affectionate scenes between the woman and the two men named as co-respondents.

CALLS TEACHER DEATH SUICIDE

WAUSEON —(INS)— Coroner H. M. Warner today returned a verdict of suicide in the case of Bess Schmidt, a Los Angeles school teacher whose body was found mutilated along the right-of-way of the New York Central Railroad's New York-to-Chicago trunk line.

Dr. Warner said he was satisfied that the girl had committed suicide after he found her purse and wrist watch locked safely with her name in her suitcase.

Miss Schmidt left her parents home in Detroit Sunday night for Indiana. She became ill near Toledo and was offered help by the woman's police division. She then boarded a train at 1:20 a. m. Monday and was found dead at 7 20 a. m., the same day.

NUMBERS BILL FACES DEATH IN COMMITTEE

Four Words In Senate Change Expected To Doom Measure To Curb Gambling.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Four words — "for his own profit"—today jeopardized enactment of legislation designed to drive out of business the "numbers" gambling racket barons.

The four words were inserted in the anti-numbers bill by a senate committee at the request of Senator Lawrence Kane (R) of Cincinnati.

The senate passed the bill, 26 to 3, yesterday and returned it to the house for concurrence in the "for his own profit" amendment.

An authoritative source predicted the house would refuse to concur in the amendment; that a senate-house committee would be appointed to settle the dispute, and that the legislature would adjourn before a settlement was reached.

Thus the proposed anti-numbers law, despite its approval by both the house and senate, would die without reaching Gov. John W. Bricker for his signature.

The Kane amendment would make the present anti-lottery law applicable only to a person who operated a game of chance "for his own profit." Kane said games such as bingo then could be conducted for religious, charitable or educational purposes.

The amendment does not affect provisions of the proposed new statute which authorizes maximum three-year prison terms for numbers agents or "writers of seven-year terms for operators or backers.

The original bill was drafted by Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert, who said the present maximum penalty of a $500 fine and six months in jail was not severe enough to cope with the numbers racket.

Senator James P. Griffith told the senate that gambling on the New York stock and bond sales totals had developed into a million-dollar racket "which has eaten into the heart of local government and probably corrupted local officials."

"In Youngstown," he added, it has resulted in one murder, two attempted murders and the bombing of the home of a vice squad chief."

JEWEL BANDITS GET $60,000

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Three daring jewel bandits, who made certain of their quarry by a telephone call, today held up five employes of the Cinton hotel in downtown Cincinnati and escaped with jewelry valued at $50,000 and $10,000 in cash.

The bandits, who were believed to have followed two New York jewelry salesmen from the east, telephoned the hotel shortly before the robbery to ascertain whether the salesmen had arrived

As they entered the hotel's lobby, the three bandits flashed guns. Two stood guard over the employes in a washroom while the third rifled the hotel's vault and safe deposit boxes where the jewelry and cash had been placed by guests.

ATTEND BLOOD DONOR MEETING

Several members of the Mansfield blood donor committee attended a district meeting at the Cleveland hotel, Cleveland, yesterday where they were addressed by a representative of the national Red Cross in Washington.

Increased needs of the blood donor service were stressed by the speaker who said 90,000 pints per week are needed from the nation.

Mrs. William Mather, head of the Cleveland blood donor unit was in charge of the meeting. After lunch the group inspected the new Cleveland Red Cross building and held a round table discussion on local blood donor problems.

Attending the meeting were Mrs William Layton, Mrs. William Bowers, Mrs Ephraim Brown, Mrs. Burton Preston and Mrs. Carvel Gorman.

APPROVES PLAN

The Ohio house of representatives today had approved by a vote of 76 to 32 Senator P. H. Rogers' bill to modify sentences for first degree murder after Representative John L. Catlett, Mansfield, moved that it be reconsidered following a reversal for the measure last week.

The previous 63-45 vote in the house was six votes short of the necessary majority to pass Introduced by Senator Rogers of Grafton, representing the 27th-29th district which includes Richland county, the measure would make persons convicted of first degree murder eligible for parole after serving 10 years.

M'GREGOR HITS REDISTRICTING

Congressman Says Delegation In Congress Not Advised of Proposed Plan.

Proposed redistricting of Ohio by the state legislature brought a protest today from Congressman J. Harry McGregor, 17th district Republican and whip for the Ohio G. O. P. delegation in congress.

In a telegram to Speaker William McCullough of the Ohio house, Congressman McGregor said he and his Ohio colleagues objected to the redistricting bill on the ground that they had not received a copy of it and lacked information on its purpose.

Democratic representatives Crosser, Kirwin and Feighan ex pected to send a similar message later, the Associated Press said.

"We and the people we represent," said McGregor, "are vitally interested and respectfully request that the bill be deferred so that we may be given some knowledge of the anticipated legislation and be afforded the opportunity to appear either in favor of or against the bill."

McGregor added that he and his colleagues are not trying to dictate to the state legislature "but believe this is not the time to act on the bill."

The bill would establish a formula for rearranging congressional districts after the 1950 census.

Meanwhile, Congressman McGregor, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, was mentioned in congressional circles as a candidate for Republican whip of the house. He has held that post in the Ohio congressional delegation during this session of congress.

The congressional whip is primarily an organization worker who polls members on their probable vote and makes sure that they are on the floor to vote.

YOUTH HURT

Boy, 6, Injured When He Runs Into Side of Auto.

Serious injury of a six-year-old boy in a traffic accident Monday night at Sturges avenue and Mendota street came to light last night when police learned that the fracture of his left shoulder, a concussion on the right side of his head, and injuries to his left leg.

The child, Teddy Hissong, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hissong, 238 Rhein avenue, ran into the side of a car driven by Mrs. LaVerne Margaret Airhart, 22, of 467 Sloan avenue, police learned.

Mrs. Airhart told officers she took the boy to a physician's office where it was believed he was not hurt seriously. She then took the child home. When he began to suffer severe pain, he was taken to the hospital where x-rays revealed the fracture and concussion. Hospital attendants said his condition was good today.

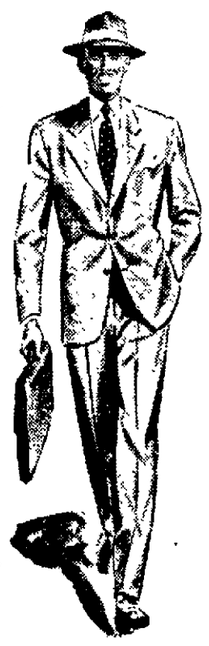
QUALITY
Is Unmistakable In All
KOMITO'S CLOTHES



You note it first in the finer fabrics, the rich patterns, the smart colors. You'll see it again, when you try on a suit, in the styling, the tailoring, the excellent fit. But you'll appreciate the quality of a Komito's suit still more, when you discover that it retains its smart appearance, even after many years of good, hard service!

Prophet of Pearl Harbor Sees Jap-China Peace Move

n Who Revealed Plans For awaii Sneak Blow Makes New Prediction.

(By Associated Press)

VASHINGTON — Testimony t Japan would seek a separ- peace with China and at- k the United States this sum- was referred to the high mand today by Chairman kstein (D., N. Y.) of the house migration committee.

he testimony came from the e man who gave Dickstein's mittee two months' advance nnig of Japanese plans to at- t Pearl Harbor — Kilsoo K. n, Washington representative the Korean National Front eration and Sino-Korean Peo- s league.

f only 50 per cent of what n told us yesterday is true," kstein declared, "this govern- t should heed his warning."

The New Yorker said Haan d submitted to his committee October 1941 detailed maps d documents showing the panese plan of attack in the cific. But, he added, persons se to Hawaiian government that time had accused Haan being a "rabble-rouser" and "trying to create trouble" in waii.

aan's information so far, Dick- said, has been "fairly ac- te" and has been reported to proper officials.

aan told the committee yes- ay that Premier Tojo dis- d during a party at his Tokyo lence that Rear Admiral Kät- ro Miyazaki had been chosen ommand an invading naval against the United States that Gen. Shunroku Hata was ead a landing expedition.

an said Gen. Jiro Minami reported to have told the Ja- se privy council last Decem- that Japan would be ready trike this country between and October, 1943.

st of speculative talks in Ja- Haan said in a prepared ment, was that Miayazaki d have at his command 60 cent of the imperial navy in planned attack, that General would have more than 100,- picked troops from the Kwan- army; and that submarine air strength would play the important part in the ate Japanese, Haan said at point, plan to send native to subjugated areas and y them off to local men in neral Japanization program.

MRS. DEMPSEY ILL AT HOTEL

Nurse, Doctor Attend Her as Divorce Case Hearings Are Suspended.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mrs. Hannah Williams Dempsey, defendant in Lieut. Commander Jack Dempsey's divorce action, was attended by physicians and a nurse in her Hotel Navarro suite today as her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Gomez, described the former revue star as the victim of "a complete nervous collapse."

After a two-day start, Dempsey's action and Hannah's counter-suit for divorce were adjourned until Tuesday. Her attorney, Gerald Donovan, asked for the adjournment and submitted a physician's affidavit that Mrs. Dempsey was ill.

Arthur F. Driscoll, the former heavyweight champion's attorney, said today that he would "strenuously oppose any further adjournments." Dempsey has accused his wife of intimacies with Benny Woodall, boxing promoter and trainer, and Lew Jenkins, former lightweight champion.

In the two days of trial, during which Dempsey was introducing his evidence, a parade of domestics and former associates of Mrs. Dempsey testified there were affectionate scenes between the woman and the two men named as co-respondents.

CALLS TEACHER DEATH SUICIDE

WAUSEON —(INS)— Coroner H. M. Warner today returned a verdict of suicide in the case of Bess Schmidt, a Los Angeles school teacher whose body was found mutilated along the right-of-way of the New York Central Railroad's New York-to-Chicago trunk line.

Dr. Warner said he was satisfied that the girl had committed suicide after he found her purse and wrist watch locked safely with her name in her suitcase.

Miss Schmidt left her parents home in Detroit Sunday night for Indiana. She became ill near Toledo and was offered help by the woman's police division. She then boarded a train at 1:20 a. m. Monday and was found dead at 7:20 a. m., the same day.

NUMBERS BILL FACES DEATH IN COMMITTEE

Four Words In Senate Change Expected To Doom Measure To Curb Gambling.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Four words — "for his own profit"—today jeopardized enactment of legislation designed to drive out of business the "numbers" gambling racket barons.

The four words were inserted in the anti-numbers bill by a senate committee at the request of Senator Lawrence Kane (R) of Cincinnati.

The senate passed the bill, 26 to 3, yesterday and returned it to the house for concurrence in the "for his own profit" amendment.

An authoritative source predicted the house would refuse to concur in the amendment; that a senate-house committee would be appointed to settle the dispute, and that the legislature would adjourn before a settlement was reached.

Thus the proposed anti-numbers law, despite its approval by both the house and senate, would die without reaching Gov. John W. Bricker for his signature.

The Kane amendment would make the present anti-lottery law applicable only to a person who operated a game of chance "for his own profit." Kane said games such as bingo then could be conducted for religious, charitable or educational purposes.

The amendment does not affect provisions of the proposed new statute which authorizes maximum three-year prison terms for numbers agents or "writers of seven-year terms for operators or backers.

The original bill was drafted by Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert, who said the present maximum penalty of a $500 fine and six months in jail was not severe enough to cope with the numbers racket.

Senator James P. Griffith told the senate that gambling on the New York stock and bond sales totals had developed into a million-dollar racket "which has eaten into the heart of local government and probably corrupted local officials."

"In Youngstown," he added, it has resulted in one murder, two attempted murders and the bombing of the home of a vice squad chief."

JEWEL BANDITS GET $60,000

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Three daring jewel bandits, who made certain of their quarry by a telephone call, today held up five employes of the Cinton hotel in downtown Cincinnati and escaped with jewelry valued at $50,000 and $10,000 in cash.

The bandits, who were believed to have followed two New York jewelry salesmen from the east, telephoned the hotel shortly before the robbery to ascertain whether the salesmen had arrived

As they entered the hotel's lobby, the three bandits flashed guns. Two stood guard over the employes in a washroom while the third rifled the hotel's vault and safe deposit boxes where the jewelry and cash had been placed by guests.

ATTEND BLOOD DONOR MEETING

Several members of the Mansfield blood donor committee attended a district meeting at the Cleveland hotel, Cleveland, yesterday where they were addressed by a representative of the national Red Cross in Washington.

Increased needs of the blood donor service were stressed by the speaker who said 90,000 pints per week are needed from the nation.

Mrs. William Mather, head of the Cleveland blood donor unit was in charge of the meeting. After lunch the group inspected the new Cleveland Red Cross building and held a round table discussion on local blood donor problems.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. William Layton, Mrs. William Bowers, Mrs. Ephraim Brown, Mrs. Burton Preston and Mrs. Carvel Gorman.

APPROVES PLAN

The Ohio house of representatives today had approved by a vote of 76 to 32 Senator P. H. Rogers' bill to modify sentences for first degree murder after Representative John L. Catlett, Mansfield, moved that it be reconsidered following a reversal for the measure last week.

The previous 63-45 vote in the house was six votes short of the necessary majority to pass. Introduced by Senator Rogers of Grafton, representing the 27th-29th district which includes Richland county, the measure would make persons convicted of first degree murder eligible for parole after serving 10 years.

M'GREGOR HITS REDISTRICTING

Congressman Says Delegation In Congress Not Advised of Proposed Plan.

Proposed redistricting of Ohio by the state legislature brought a protest today from Congressman J. Harry McGregor, 17th district Republican and whip for the Ohio G. O. P. delegation in congress.

In a telegram to Speaker William McCullough of the Ohio house, Congressman McGregor said he and his Ohio colleagues objected to the redistricting bill on the ground that they had not received a copy of it and lacked information on its purpose.

Democratic representatives Crosser, Kirwin and Feighan expected to send a similar message later, the Associated Press said.

"We and the people we represent," said McGregor, "are vitally interested and respectfully request that the bill be deferred so that we may be given some knowledge of the anticipated legislation and be afforded the opportunity to appear either in favor of or against the bill."

McGregor added that he and his colleagues are not trying to dictate to the state legislature "but believe this is not the time to act on the bill."

The bill would establish a formula for rearranging congressional districts after the 1950 census.

Meanwhile, Congressman McGregor, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, was mentioned in congressional circles as a candidate for Republican whip of the house. He has held that post in the Ohio congressional delegation during this session of congress.

The congressional whip is primarily an organization worker who polls members on their probable vote and makes sure that they are on the floor to vote.

YOUTH HURT

Boy, 6, Injured When He Runs Into Side of Auto.

Serious injury of a six-year-old boy in a traffic accident Monday night at Sturges avenue and Mendota street came to light last night when police learned that the fracture of his left shoulder, a concussion on the right side of his head, and injuries to his left leg.

The child, Teddy Hissong, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hissong, 238 Rhein avenue, ran into the side of a car driven by Mrs. LaVerne Margaret Airhart, 22, of 467 Sloan avenue, police learned.

Mrs. Airhart told officers she took the boy to a physician's office where it was believed he was not hurt seriously. She then took the child home. When he began to suffer severe pain, he was taken to the hospital where x-rays revealed the fracture and concussion. Hospital attendants said his condition was good today.

FALL OF ATTU EXPECTED SOON

U. S. Navy Air Force Helps To Keep Remnants of Foe Isolated For Kill.

Pounded by American air power whenever weather permits, communications completely cut off by the U. S. navy, and facing a superior ground force, the remaining Japanese appear to have only one factor—the rugged terrain of the island—to help them prolong the battle.

Yesterday's communique disclosed that in three days between last Saturday and Monday American land forces, supported by army bombers and fighters, wiped out the pocket in the Chichagof pass and were attacking the Chichagof harbor group.

Naval officers are surprised at the lack of what they term the usual "Jap reaction" to the American attack on Attu. They say that the Japanese always have tried to reinforce any of their troops caught in the path of an American advance.

Except for two rather small waves of bombers, the Japanese appeared to have reversed themselves in this respect in regard to Attu and to have abandoned the Attu garrison to death or surrender.

Hitler Honors Yamamoto, Deceased

(By Associated Press)

A DNB dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio said today Adolf Hitler had awarded the German Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross with oak leaves and swords posthumously to Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto of Japan "in appreciation of his merits in the common fight of our arms.

The Tokyo radio said Yamamoto died in air combat on the southern front of the Pacific war in April.

Japs Hurl Tanks Into Chungking Push

CHUNGKING—(U.P.)—The Japanese are rushing up tanks and mechanized units to reinforce troops driving through western Hupeh province with the aid of 200 airplanes in an offensive aimed at Chungking, a Chinese military spokesman said today.

The spokesman predicted a "huge, decisive" battle soon which might determine whether China can save her wartime capital and keep from being knocked out of the war.

The spokesman said 70,000 to 80,000 men were in the Japanese spearhead approaching the Chinese forts along the Yangtze river west of Ichang, strongpoint 295 miles east of Chunking. The enemy objective, he added, was first to destroy the forts and then drive on Chungking itself.

Already Japanese river craft were using the Yangtze as far as Ichang and transports were moving up troops, mechanized units and munitions all the way from Shanghai to Ichang, he said.

TALKS TODAY

Liberia President, White House Guest, Goes Before Congress.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Edwin Barclay, a grandson of American slaves who rose to become president of Liberia, addresses the senate and the house today.

Barclay, who was received by President Roosevelt late yesterday, was an overnight guest at the White House. He moves across the street to the Blair house today for the remainder of his visit.

Barclay is the first of a long list of visiting dignitaries of recent months to have an American background. His grandparents migrated to Liberia from the United States after the Civil war.

St. Peter's to Graduate Class of 46 Seniors

Tomorrow 46 seniors at St. Peter's school will begin the final week in their high school careers with the May crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary ceremony at St. Peter's Catholic church at 7 p. m. Blessing of the class ring will take place Sunday at 3 p. m. with Msgr. R. C. Goebel delivering the address. On Sunday, June 6, the seniors will attend Holy Mass at 8 a. m. attired in caps and gowns. Following this service a banquet breakfast will be served in the high school building. Commencement exercises will be held at 3 p. m. in the church with Msgr. Goebel presenting the diplomas. Class exercises at 8 p. m. will close the commencement activities. They will be held in the school auditorium with John Marinella giving the salutatory and Joan Hiser the valedictory address. Members of the graduating class are John Beach, Rosemary Bingert, Raymond Bush, Anthony Buzenski, Casimir Buzenski, Mary Buzenski, Thelma Conroy, Elizabeth Corneck, Anna Cross, Mary Ann Cusic, Martha Denig, Aileen Dillon, Eleanor Dropsey, Virginia Eichinger, Mary Ferrise, Joseph Gentille, Margaret Graska, Joan Hiser, Rosemarie Horvath, Robert Kasper, Teresa Keipp, Rita Kleshinski, Mary Kmetz, Mary Knapp, Richard Lehman, Grace Letizia, Edward Lichtle, John Marinella, Rosemary Massa, Margaret Mertler, Margaret Murphy, Elizabeth McDevitt, Mary Pagani, Robert Peters, Cecilia Rachel, Lloyd Reindl, Gerard Risacher, Anna Romano, Robert Schnug, Gertrude Thoma, Robert Tipul, Ruth Turk, William Wervey, Joseph Woerth, Marcine Zimmerman, and Catherine Zornig.

DISAGREE OVER TAX AGREEMENT

Conferees Meet To Decide What They Decided About Pay-Go.

less, and 75 per cent abatement for all others.

Later, however, some conference members said they understood the compromise stipulated not only that persons owing more than $50 would get a 75 per cent abatement but also an additional abatement of $50—which would mean complete cancellation for persons with a tax liability of $200 or less for the abatement year.

The conference committee, headed by Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee and Doughton (D-N.C.) of the house ways and means committee, was called back into session to decide exactly what had been decided upon.

If the extra $50 is allowed, it will mean an additional abatement of around $1,000,000,000, bringing the total to approximately $7,000,000,000 compared with a $10,000,000,000 expected revenue from the tax on 1942 personal income, according to informal estimates of tax authorities.

While the conferees are in session, they probably will polish up windfall provisions and other phases of the pay-as-you-go legislation, which will come up for a vote in both house and senate early next week.

Meanwhile, Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, jr., of Massachusetts, who directed three unsuccessful battles for the modified Ruml plan to by-pass an entire tax year, threw his party's house strength behind the compromise bill.

With George and Martin both predicting passage, sources close to the White House were reported to have indicated the president probably would let it become law without his signature. Mr. Roosevelt has threatened to veto Rumlflavored legislation.

That Compromise Income Tax Bill

CONGRESS appears to be on the verge of doing something about income taxes, following agreement by a house and senate conference committee.

Just what effect the compromise bill will have on individual taxpayers has not yet been made clear and it now seems a safe prediction that any previous complications involved in making income tax returns will be considered simple as abc when compared with the intricacies of forthcoming regulations.

There's to be, for instance, so-called "forgiveness" of the 1942 taxes for persons whose year's tax is $50, or less, but if the tax bill for 1942 is anywhere above $50 only 75 per cent is to be forgiven—"with the remainder to be paid half in 1944 and half in 1945."

But if, as was required, 25 per cent of the tax on 1942 income was paid in March, and 25 per cent more is to be paid in June, what happens to the "forgiveness" of 75 per cent after 50 per cent has already been paid—and what remains to be collected in 1944 and 1945?

Then there's to be a 20 per cent withholding levy from wages and salaries, presumably effective July 1, which is to apply against taxes on 1943 income, thus attaining at least a semblance of the widely favored Ruml pay-as-you-go plan, which would have greatly simplified the entire procedure.

Adding to the confusion will be the provision that "only the lesser of the 1942 or 1943 income would be subject to full or partial abatement."

Of course it will be easy, after the new tax law has been passed and is in operation, to have it explained by an expert—the only trouble being that "experts," including those in Washington, will probably disagree.

Mansfield Stores Invite You

TOMORROW and Saturday will be "Mansfield Days" in local stores, under sponsorship of the Retail Merchants' association, and—as usual—extra effort will be given to the display of seasonable merchandise in all lines.

"Get acquainted with Mansfield stores" might well be the slogan for such an occasion, as stocks, in many instances, are larger and more varied than some people may consider possible at a time when much is being said about wartime restrictions and shortages.

Making purchases and securing deliveries of merchandise to supply customers' needs are not easy tasks nowadays, but Mansfield merchants have shown commendable enterprise and foresight in stocking up for spring and summer trade—with many scarce and "hard-to-get" items available for early comers.

Residents of Mansfield and this city's entire large shopping area will find it interesting and profitable to visit Mansfield stores tomorrow and Saturday—with preference for the morning hours, if possible.

When Wealth Stands Helpless

EDSEL FORD, only child of Henry Ford, is dead at the age of 49, and his death serves to emphasize the pitiful futility of great wealth in dealing with the problem of combatting human ailments that are beyond the skill of physicians to remedy.

One of the great benefactions of Henry Ford is the fine hospital he built at a cost of $7,500,000, staffed by outstanding physicians and surgeons, and performing fine service for thousands of patients unrelated to the donor.

But when it was the life of his own son that was at stake, all of the facilities of this magnificent hospital, and all of the Ford wealth, were unequal to the task of saving Edsel's life.

Possibly it is because Edsel Ford "grew up in the business" that he made such a creditable record as a wealthy man's son—a handicap that so frequently proves disastrous. He was not born to wealth, for it was at the time of his birth, in November, 1893, that his father—a 30-year-old machinist—was tinkering at his first automobile in a Detroit barn and it was not until Edsel was a good-sized boy that there was any spare money in the family.

When he was 19 he went to work in the factory and learned the business from the production angle before tackling the management phase, thus accounting for his broad understanding of employer-employe relations.

It is by a strange quirk of fate that 79-year-old Henry Ford is now called upon to re-assume some of the responsibilities which he had so happily and confidently shifted to the shoulders of his capable son.

Clothes That Will Not Fit

A YOUNG CORPORAL, on furlough from the army air forces, has been giving some time to the clothing drive for Russian relief. He has contributed all his own clothing of suitable material, and suggests the other boys in the fighting forces do the same.

"Most boys," he says, "pick up a lot of weight in the service, they get more muscular, and as a result their old clothes won't fit when they come back."

Nor does he confine the idea to the boys. Girls in the WAACS, WAVES and other services might as well give their civilian clothing now, he remarks, because when they get back, even if any of the garments fit, which is unlikely, they will be out of date. For girls, too, benefit by their training in the services. Their posture is better, their heels are lower and they walk more freely.

One of the fine things to see is the increased grace of movement in both men and women in the services.

The old joke about the butcher "weighing his thumb" is now modernized to aver that he takes no points for the added weight.

Vice President Wallace suggests a "universal living standard"—and nothing seems to stand in the way except people.

INFLATION STAY AWAY FROM MY DOOR

Mackenzie Weighs Possibility of Defeating Germany By Air Power

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

SINCE Hitler couldn't knock England out by bombing, what chance have the Allies of blasting Germany into submission now?

That very reasonable question has been put to me, and this looks like an appropriate time to answer it in view of the further devastating raids on German and Italian territory.

Actually, of course, nobody in authority has claimed that Hitler could be beaten by air alone, although British Premier Churchill says it's an "experiment well worth trying, so long as other measures aren't excluded"—with accent on that last clause. There has been no indication the Allies intend to wait for air power to turn the trick.

On the contrary, it's reasonable to expect them to start invasions of the continent as soon as the raids have reduced Axis strength so armies can be landed without being mowed down.

But to return to our muttons, Hitler's bombing of England and the Allied bombing of Germany involve different circumstances. Take, for example, the distribution of war industries.

Britain's plants were largely decentralized—scattered all over the country. This was by deliberate plan which was calculated to meet just such an emergency as arose. The Nazi bombers did terrific damage here and there, but knocking out one manufacturing city or half a dozen couldn't disrupt the country's production.

Many of Germany's essential industries, however, are centralized because of circumstances over which Hitler has had no control. His greatest armament works are concentrated in the Ruhr, because both iron and coal are there.

He can't get away from that district, and the endless miles of factories there make a prime target for the anglo-American bombers based in Britain. Closing down of the Ruhr manufacturing zone would be a major catastrophe which the all highest could scarcely survive.

THEN, too, the Fuehrer banked too much on breaking British morale. He had the idea that if he could lay London in ruins, the people would fold up automatically. So he kept on sending big fleets of bombers over the capital although he was doing very little industrial damage. London is a great rail center and port, but even if he had leveled it, that wouldn't in itself have beaten Britain.

One of the biggest elements in John Bull's favor was the fact he was able to depend on Uncle Sam for supplies. As fast as Hitler destroyed resources with bombs, convoys from America dumped fresh cargoes ashore in Britain.

That produced the German u-boat campaign which, like its predecessor in the World war, crowded the Allies into a corner but didn't succeed in controlling the Atlantic. Despite bombs and u-boats, the Allies have continued to pile up striking-power in the British isles until we are now able to unleash the hurricane of bombs which we hope will whittle the head gangster down to the size where we can handle him nicely.

There is still another vital difference between the job which we are doing over western Europe and the Nazi bombing of Britain. Far greater explosive power is being unleashed against Hitler, it's being done more systematically and the objectives selected are vital parts of his war machine.

The Germans loosed some terribly destructive bombs over Britain but the latest Allied bombs are both block-busters and heart-busters. It is, as Mr. Churchill suggested, "an interesting experiment."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, May 27, 1923.

Mansfield patriotic organizations, headed by G. A. R., attended Memorial Sunday services at First Methodist church and heard sermon by Rev. F. C. Anderson.

Many Mansfield motorists took advantage of favorable weather and made long drives.

Scott street subway under Big Four railroad in Crestline was nearing readiness for opening.

Mrs. L. K. Sheriff, 36, of Franklin township, died.

First Communion was observed at St. Peter's Catholic church by 500 children.

Arthur Rugh, Y. M. C. A. worker in China, spoke in several churches on conditions in the Orient.

Motorist was arrested for speeding at 36 miles an hour on South Main street.

Since it started, the National Youth administration has gobbled up $771,000,000 and it's looking for $59,304,000 for the next year.

Fifty-nine million dollars represents the total of more than three million $18.75 war bonds or a big hunk of tax money and whichever it is we don't believe the people are in the mood to spend it on this depression-born outfit.

At the very same time that the additional funds are being asked for this depression holdover, congress is being asked for authority to set up the post-war with a starting bank account of $85,000,000.

Timely Editorial

'No Evasions' Says Stassen.

Harold E. Stassen, now in the navy, bids adieu—probably temporarily—to public life in articles currently appearing in the Saturday Evening Post. We find here a genuine message to his party from the young Republican whose success as governor of Minnesota established him as a national Republican figure.

This message is that Republicans must take forthright positions on the issues of these times, national or international. For himself, he speaks out on about all pending questions. He scorns the policy of "lay low" because, while it may be politically expedient, it means certain loss to the nation in the future.

Stassen's farewell call for a new and progressive Republicanism will have a wide appeal, we predict. His return to the national scene as a Republican leader, perhaps as candidate for president, is distinctly possible.—Detroit News.

Dave Boone Says:

THE MORE I notice the type of folks who daily get the publicity these days the more striking becomes a woman like Mary Reed who died the other day. Mary Reed was an Ohio farm girl who at the ago of 16 dedicated her life to helping others. She passed on at 88 after spending most of her life helping lepers.

* * *

She lived in a leper colony in India. Many years ago she caught the disease, but she recovered completely after six years. She attributed her recovery to prayer.

* * *

And she didn't falter, but remained at work in the leper colony, bringing such comfort and help as was possible among the terribly stricken. Mary Reed was one of the great women of America, but she didn't get much publicity. She wasn't trivial enough to attract attention, I guess.

Island of Peace.

Here in this busy day I claim
An island full of peace.
I pause and free my mind of thoughts
From which I claim surcease.

The clock ticks on but I stand still
And claim the rest I crave
A little quiet time I take
To keep me calm and brave.

The clock ticks on and now I leave
My peaceful spot and come
Refreshed back to the tasks that call.
That make the day's full sum.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Lewis Anxious for Quick Action By AFL, Sent Check for $60,000

WASHINGTON—There was one very hush-hush conference staged for the benefit of Winston Churchill in Washington which was no military secret. It was a parade of beautiful models dressed in the latest New York fashions.

It came about when the prime minister asked Mrs. Henry Hopkins about the latest styles worn by American women. He said he would like to see some of them. So Mrs. Hopkins got Mrs. Averell Harriman and together they organized a fashion show.

Sending to New York for the latest gowns, they staged a private, ultra-exclusive fashion show for the prime minister of Britain, with the help of several imported models.

Churchill got quite a kick out of it. Friends say that his photographic mind will remember most of the details, and the first thing he will do when he gets back to London will be to tell Mrs. Churchill all about it.

"She's sure to ask me," he remarked, "just what the women are wearing in America."

Eager John L. Lewis.

ONLY insiders know it, but John L. Lewis wanted re-admission to the AFL so badly that he enclosed with his application a check for $60,000 advance dues.

He hoped to take his old friends by storm and win immediate admission. The AFL executive council was sitting at the time he sent the check, and would not meet again until August. Lewis hoped they would act pronto, so he could lay plans for throwing his weight around at the next AFL convention in October.

But quick admission of the Mine Workers was blocked partly by two independents inside the AFL, partly by the White House, where temperatures rose rapidly for fear Lewis, bitterly anti-New Deal, would swing the AFL away from co-operation with the president.

Lewis had nursed his plan to rejoin the AFL for a long time. Recently, he had begun to feel deeply the public resentment against his coal strike, and also to feel the weakness of his position outside both of the big union organizations.

In trying to worm back inside the AFL, he used the good offices of Big Bill Hutcheson, boss of the Carpenters union—and herein lay the greatest irony of the entire operation. For it was Hutcheson, now a willing emissary for John, who fell flat on his back under a blow from the first of Lewis at the Atlantic City convention in 1935.

Wooden Mosquito.

ASK the man in the street whether it's true or false that Germany is now being bombed by planes made of wood, carrying no guns, and accompanied by no fighters. His answer: False. Correct answer: True.

The RAF is now using such a plane, and most successfully. It is the new Mosquito bomber, made of spruce ply-wood, and using speed instead of armament for its protection.

Persons who remember the famous air race from England to Australia in 1934 know how the Mosquito got its start. Winner of that race was the DeHaviland Comet. Only two planes of this type were ever built, but they served as a model for the devastating Mosquito which is dodging the fighters and anti-aircraft fire over Germany today.

The Mosquito operates on a wholly different theory of attack and defense from the big four-engined cannon-and-machine-gun jobs that have done most of the RAF bombing. It has a top speed of 400 miles an hour, which means the fighters can't overtake it. It dodges into a specific target, such as a railroad yard, drops its small load of bombs with deadly aim, dodges out again.

At present the Mosquito is made only in Britain and Canada, but its performance has so deeply impressed U. S. Air Forces that plans are on foot for its production in the United States.

No Secrets in Mexico.

IT CAN now be revealed that secret service agents had a lot of trouble keeping the president's visit to Mexico a secret. In fact, practically every literate Mexican knew or thought he knew what was going to happen. The American press kept the secret and most of the American public was in the dark. But not the Mexicans.

The tip-off was President Avila Camacho's public request for congressional permission to leave the country "for not more than 72 hours." This made it clear that he was not going to Washington. And it was not hard to guess that if he crossed the border, he would be met by no less than his opposite number, the president of the United States.

Another tip-off was the fact that Avila Camacho arrived in Monterrey three days in advance of the meeting, while Mexican newspapers were allowed to speculate freely.

No wonder Mike Reilly was worried. Reilly, chief of the White House secret service detail, had gone to Monterrey in advance, to smell out any danger spots. He had a tip that certain hardware firms in the city were run by Germans, and hardware stores handle arms and ammunition. Also he was fearful of the shaky roadbed of the Mexican railroad between the border and Monterrey.

Every mile of the line was carefully checked by an official of the Missouri Pacific railroad, and as for the hardware stores, Reilly found that they had been dry-cleaned by the Mexican government after Mexico's declaration of war.

In making inspections, Reilly worked closely with General Eulogio Ortiz, former chief-of-staff for Pancho Villa, and a great admirer of General MacArthur. It is General Ortiz's ambition to be sent to Australia to serve with MacArthur.

Catching Up With Happenings In Tunisia; Accuracy of Artillery Amazed Germans.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA—(By Wireless)—Little items . . . The constant boom and roll of heavy artillery are still to me the most saddening, sickening, doom-spelling sound of all the ghastly war noises I know . . . One of the funniest sights of the war to me so far is to see an Arab, clad in nothing but American G. I. skin-tight winter underwear, running along behind a caravan of camels. . . .

The most pathetic little sight I've seen in the war was just after a 500-pound bomb landed in the garden of a monastery (only 50 yards from my tent, incidentally) . . . We went over to look at the great crater it left, and lying there just outside the rim of the crater was a big frog, dead from concussion. His legs were still spread, in leaping position, his eyes still open, his mouth still agape as if just about to say in hurt wonderment: "Why did you want to do this to me?"

MAJ. CHARLES MILLER of Detroit has a Rolleicord camera and 10 rolls of film that he bought from an English-speaking Italian prisoner. When he offered to buy it the prisoner was aghast. He said: "Why, I'm a prisoner. It's yours. You don't buy it, you take it." But Major Miller told him we didn't do it that way over here, and he gave the Italian three times as much as the price the prisoner finally proposed. At home the same camera would cost $200.

We aren't the only ones who like to collect enemy gear. The Germans did the same. German prisoners showed up with American mess kits and with Tommy guns, and even wearing pieces of American uniforms.

The Germans worked up a terrific respect for the uncanny accuracy of our artillery. It was so perfect it had them agog. They tell of one German officer, taken prisoner before the collapse, who when brought into camp said:

"I know you're going to kill me, but before you do would you let me see that automatic artillery of yours?"

We didn't kill him, of course, and neither did we show him our automatic artillery, because we haven't got any. We're just crack shots, that's all.

A FIGHTER PILOT I know—a squadron leader—sent close to 200 Germans to their doom. He was homeward bound from a mission and flying right on the dock—in other words just above the ground. He zoomed over a little rise in the ground, and there straight ahead, dead in his sights, was the evening chow line behind a German truck.

It all happened in a second. There wasn't time for the Germans to duck. The pilot simply pressed the button, cannon shells streamed forth, and Germans and pieces of Germans flew in all directions.

The squadron leader barely mentioned it in his report when he got back. He says it almost made him sick. Killing is his business, but it is killing an opponent in the air that he likes. I'm not even giving his name, because he feels so badly about it.

I HAVE run onto another dog that came all way from America. He is a black-and-white springer spaniel, and he sprang from the dog pound at St. Petersburg, Fla. Two pilots originally had him—Lieut. Richard East, of East Orange, N. J., and Lieut. Harold Taft, of Jeffersonville, Ind. They named him Duckworth, after the third member of their original flying-school trio—Lieut. John Stewart Duckworth of Boston.

Duckworth has checked out in seven different kinds of airplanes. He has flown across the Atlantic, and twice across Africa, and once up and once down Africa. He loves to fly.

I heard one pilot who had a pet cat that burst its eardrums on its first flight and is now stone deaf. But the boys stuff cotton in Duckworth's ears and he's o. k.

He has a little ritual of always running around to the left wheel the moment he gets out of a plane, and paying a little formal call on Mother Nature.

The dog's namesake, Lieutenant Duckworth, is now at Randolph Field, Texas, fretting because he isn't overseas in combat. The dog's co-owner, Lieutenant East, is one of those who never came back from a Tunisian mission. So Duckworth now belongs only to Lieutenant Taft, who humors him and cusses him and is very proud of him.

He says Duckworth is the biggest ladies' man in Africa.

A Farmer's Diary

Black Billed Cuckoo

THE tent caterpillars are busy. On the small crotches of the black walnut at the west end of our gravel road. I saw three light gray tents. That was three weeks ago. Constantly they grew. Three days ago, the silken coverings were as large as a man's hand.

Outside our living room window, on the wild cherry above the spring, we watched a nest grow from a mist the size of a marble to that of an average teacup. I noticed, through the translucent covering, a great number of wriggling black, inch-long worms. All about the bushes on the slope, these same pests abound. I feared for the safety of the soft green foliage.

But today I was happily startled to see a black-billed bird glide easily along the running water, poise above the nest then settle down and quietly and quickly begin to devour the fuzzy, jerking inmates. Two other birds appeared, much like the first, and seemed inclined to share the find. The first one drove them away—"Go hunt your own."

The cuckoos have arrived! Tent caterpillars are a special delicacy to them. From May to September, this long bird with the sharp bowed beak, red-rimmed eyes, brownish wings and pale gray underside will haunt the woods, especially near streams of running water. It is not the famous singing cuckoo that Wordsworth praised, that delighted Shakespeare at Stratford, or inspired Hugo, or Schiller. Our eastern American cuckoo has only a rasping, gutteral note—kow, kow—that is not pleasing.

Nor are our cuckoos models for domestic living. They build a haphazard bunch of twigs on a horizontal branch and in this flattened apology for a nest deposit four green-blue eggs.

The mother bird hunts food for the little ones for a short time—and may even feign a lame leg and flutter to draw trespassers away—but as soon as her young ones can tumble out of the nest they must shift for themselves.

Tent caterpillars are not their only fare. They are destructive of insects of most kinds, and woods and fields are greener where they abound. Gossips have said they suck the eggs of other birds—but to me that is pure hearsay.

AKRON RUBBER STRIKE ENDS ON ORDER BY FDR

Workers Return To Jobs at Four Plants; President Lashes Stoppage.

clared: "I think the strike has achieved the results we wanted—the reopening of the War Labor Board wage case. Now we'll wait and see what they'll do with it."

The president, acting as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, termed the work stoppage a "flagrant violation of the no-strike pledge" and asserted: "If this strike is not ended by 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, May 27, your government will take necessary steps to protect the interests of the nation. . . ."

Executive boards of URW locals at Goodyear, Firestone and Goodrich promptly adopted a resolution urging immediate resumption of war work, and their presidents then made radio appeals.

Walkouts at Akron's "big three" and the General Tire and Rubber company started—spontaneously, union leaders declared—with news last Saturday that the national War Labor Board had reduced to three cents an hour its panel's recommendation of an eight-cent wage increase. Production soon stopped on a multitude of such items as self-sealing gasoline tanks and de-icers for warplanes, anti-aircraft guns, gas masks and combat tires.

Acting soon after the union's international executive board urged a return to work with promises the WLB would reconsider the case, President Roosevelt telegraphed the rubber workers' leaders:

"From the point of view of the nation, these strikes are inexcusable and must therefore be accepted by the country and by your government for what they basically are: namely, a defiance of the War Labor Board, a challenge to the government by law and a blow against the effective prosecution of the war.

"Further, these strikes constitute a flagrant violation of the on-strike pledge. They must not be permitted to continue any longer."

Mr. Roosevelt said "in the midst of war calling for the supreme sacrifice of many of the ranks of our armed forces, it is shocking to the nation to discover that any group within our citizenry would impede, for a single moment, the production of the materials of war needed for our war effort.

"Therefore, as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, I direct all picketing to cease and all employes now out on strike at the rubber plants to return to work at once. If this strike is not ended by 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, May 27, your government will take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the nation, the legal rights and properties of the companies involved, and rights of the patriotic workers who desire to work. . . ."

Sherman H. Dalrymple, the union's international president, commented: "I am in full accord with any action the president of the United States may deem necessary to get these plants back into operation. I think he has taken the proper action."

When the strikers walked out last week-end, Dalrymple urged them to return. His pleas ignored, Dalrymple and leaders of the "big three" locals went to Washington and obtained assurances the WLB would entertain a union petition for reconsideration—but only after production was resumed.

One executive board member, who declined use of his name, reported that only a few minutes before the presidential ultimatum was received the board had voted 6 to 2 for continuance of the stoppage.

Industrial sources estimated the loss in production of war materials resulting from the stoppage might exceed $18,000,000.

Return To Jobs At Toledo Plant

TOLEDO — (INS) — Production at the Electric Auto-Lite company was back to normal today, as 2,000 workers voted to go back to work after a two-day strike in protest to delay in a contract settlement.

Meanwhile, Ray Fitness, works manager at the Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., where 1,500 were forced out of work by the striking of 4,000 workers at the Spicer Manufacturing company, said that about 1,500 more would be forced to quit at Willys-Overland unless the strike at Spicer was settled.

BALTIMORE—(AP)—The strike of American Federation of Labor affiliated transit employes dragged into its third day today as the Baltimore Transit company reported operations 85 to 90 per cent of normal and said some strikers had returned to work.

Timken Factory Resumes Operation

CANTON—(AP)—Unionists returned to their jobs at the Timken Roller Bearing company's main plant yesterday, ending a three-day work stoppage after the company agreed to remove women operators from automatic grinding machines and place men on the jobs according to seniority, A. T. Pinkney, federal conciliator, announced.

The work stoppage involving 1,400 men was in protest of the promotion of women operators to the machine jobs, the conciliator said. The union contended the promotions violated terms of its contract with the company.

work truce expires next Monday.

It was believed, however, that UMW President John L. Lewis would renew the already twice-extended truce if prospects for settlement appear favorable.

Apparently little progress was made in yesterday's conferences, the first under the war labor board order calling for further negotiations on the union's portal-to-portal pay demand and secondary issues. The conferences met twice and both times recessed a short time later at the request of the operators.

A union spokesman said that "nothing has been done." Whatever settlement is reached is expected to increase the average miner's wage by at least $1 a day.

1,500 Packard Workers Still Idle

DETROIT —(INS)— Fifteen hundred Packard Motor company workers remained idle today in a dispute involving alleged deferment of promotions.

A back to work movement had been effected last night by army, union, and government officials, pending a meeting Sunday night between company and UAW-CIO officials. The men failed to report this morning, however, a company spokesman said.

Meanwhile, work was also resumed at the American Metal Products company where an alleged "lockout" left 1,100 workers temporarily idle yesterday.

the Latvian frontier—a front which has been comparatively idle for months. The Germans said they had restored their positions.

There was little fresh news from the Pacific area, but American doughboys were believed to be handing out the finishing touches to the Japanese troops on Attu island in the Aleutians in grim, hand-to-hand fighting among the rocks. The latest navy communique indicated the Japanese were fighting it out in the advantageous terrain of two pockets around Chichagof harbor and on the north shore of Lake Nicholas, southwest of the harbor.

In Moscow, Joseph E. Davies, President Roosevelt's special envoy, announced he was leaving directly for the United States with a sealed letter from Premier Stalin, answering the message from the president carried to Moscow by Davies. The envoy, who met Stalin last night at the Kremlin for the third time during his present visit, said he did not know the contents of Stalin's letter.

In London financial circles, rumors circulated that sensational developments were in prospect in Italy and the London press carried headlines hinting of Italian collapse. The Daily Telegraph reported that Italy was "on the verge of invasion panic" and a headline proclaimed: "Big strikes in Italy's arms factories."

The Rome radio, in a broadcast recorded by the British ministry of information, boasted however, that "public opinion in Italy is not easily intimidated."

The Italian communique acknowledged the Allied raids on Italian Mediterraean islands, but claimed Italian torpedo planes had attacked an Allied convoy in the Mediterranean, hitting one destroyer. Axis bombers also attacked the road and railway line between Mersa Matruh and El Daba in northern Egypt, the communique said.

Britain Will Keep Right on Bombing Foe

LONDON — (UP) — Deputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee said today that Britain will bomb Germany, Italy and occupied Europe until victory has been won despite any representations from the enemy or from neutral sources.

"The destruction of the Axis war potential by air bombing is a vital feature of our offensive and neither the enemy nor anyone else will divert us from it," he told commons.

He spoke in reply to a question as to whether there was any "danger" that Britain would abandon air bombardment because of representations by neutrals.

French Patriots Kill 60 Nazis

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Dakar radio today reported French patriots set off an explosion which killed sixty Germans in Paris near the Bois De Boulogne.

The broadcast, picked up by CBS, also quoted the French newspaper Petit Nicois as warning civilians living in coastal zones of southern France to move inland while there was still time.

"In the event of an Allied landing, nobody will be allowed to take refuge in the interior," the paper said.

PROFESSOR DIES

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Dr. Donald B. Wiltberger, assistant professor in the college of dentistry at Ohio State university, is dead at 62.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's father called her "Little Nell." He died when she was nine years old.

He Has a Sunny Disposition

Ideal pet, according to his mistress, Film Actress Julie Carter, is this rare Hungarian komondor. Three years old he has a coat of fine fluffy white hair and weighs 125 pounds. His name is Fighter—but he's as gentle as a lamb, according to Julie.

PAY TRIBUTE TO EDSEL FORD

Auto Workers File Past Bier of One of Industry's Founders.

DETROIT —(INS)— The men and women who owe their livelihood to the automobile industry paid tribute today to one of the men who helped found it.

A solemn line of workers from the factories and offices of this motor capital, passed through a flower-filled funeral home where Edsel Ford, only son of the industry's first citizen, lies in state.

Private funeral services will be at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel of Christ Episcopal church, in suburban Grosse Pointe.

DIES TODAY

GALION — Jay F. Wirick, 48, prominent insurance salesman of this city, died today at 7:30 a. m. at a hospital in Brecksville.

He is survived by his widow, three brothers, Levi, Chillicothe, Jacob, Columbus, and Melvin, Ashland, one sister, Mrs. Ralph Poph, Fremont, and his mother, Mrs. Jacob Wirick, Galion.

PROPOSES CITY PARKING GARAGE

available, a second and possibly a third and could be built, he said.

Boals pointed out that there is space for only 1,300 cars at parking places in the entire downtown area and an outdoor parking lot would provide space for only about 100 more. Besides, he added, the only available lots for public parking are out-of-the-way places and inconvenient for shoppers. He emphasized that the garage should be on a downtown site.

"When we consider that Mansfield has more than 13,000 registered motor vehicles and parking space for only one-tenth of them, it's a miracle that we get along as well as we do," Boals said.

Widening of Walnut street is another post-war project that should be taken up as soon as possible to relieve traffic congestion in the shopping area, he added. Council and city officials have considered the Walnut street project and Mayor W. J. Locke said recently that he advocated going ahead with the project as soon as the money is available.

GRAND LODGE TO MEET

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The 1943 annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, Free and Accepted Masons, will be held Oct. 20-21 in Columbus, Deputy Grand Master A. A. Stephens announced.

Sees Liquor Stock 'Little Better' for Ohio's Consumers from New York where he conferred with distiller representatives on the amount of liquor to be allotted to Ohio for the three-month period beginning July 1, said, "some of them pulled in their horns a bit and said the supply from their companies will be slightly reduced while others promised to be more generous. On an overall basis, however, I believe we will get a little more than we have been."

The state has received on the average about 200,000 cases monthly, of which half goes to permit holders and half to state retail stores.

Formal rationing in Ohio will begin Tuesday.

FUNDS RECEIVED

County Subdivisions Given $95,526 In Tag Money.

First distribution of 1943 auto license collections received by Norman L. Wolfe, county auditor, totals $95,526 for Richland county. It represents half of the total amount which will be received by the county during the year from this source.

Of the entire amount, $62,357 will go to the county; $18,537, to Mansfield; $3,081 to Shelby; $431 to Bellville; $256 to Butler; $275 to Lexington; $243 to Lucas; $350 to Plymouth; $250 to Shiloh and $150 to South Boulevards.

These allotments will be distributed this week.

PROBE LOOMS IN 'SLUSH' CHECKS

anything about the checks, according to the Press.

"I don't recall any checks for Mr. Bender," the Press quoted Schmeller as saying. "I don't know what they could have been for."

The payments, the Press said, were made on company checks and paid out of company funds. Both checks, the Press said, were endorsed by Bender as chairman of the Cuyahoga county Republican central committee.

The first payment was made to Bender four days before the primary election of Aug. 11, the Press alleged. The $1,000 payment was made four days before the general election of Nov. 3, the Press continued.

The Press said that although all campaign contributions must be reported in detail at the board of elections, the Press said Bender reported, because the funds were for the regular office expenses of Republican headquarters and did not have to be accounted for as with campaign contributions.

CHANGE PIG-RAISING LAW

FLEMINGTON, Pa. —(U P)— The meat shortage prompted the borough council to rescind an ordinance prohibiting raising of pigs within the borough limits. The council was petitioned by 300 residents who demanded an emergency repeal of the law.

/AR CHANGING EATING HABITS

perts Predict Higher Costs To Continue After End of Hostilities.

y International News Service)
BOSTON—Many restaurant ctices and consumer eating bits enforced by a war economy l continue in the post-war pe-d, John W. Stokes, Boston taurant executive, predicted ay.

High food costs will continue, he d. Men and women who are ing in defense plant cafeterias l those in the armed services being accustomed to food h higher nutritive value. After war they will still want good d and this will mean higher ts.

"Many persons are forming e habit of eating out and they ll continue this habit," Stokes clared.

lew materials and techniques gested by war plant and mili-y food operations will be fur-r developed, he indicated. As bor saving device, Stokes men-ed the indented tray now used nany military cafeterias, which iates the use of dishes.

Another new twist in the restaurant of tomorrow, Stokes predicted, will be the "lunch truck" used to carry sandwiches, deserts, beverages and sometimes hot dishes to sections of large industrial plants remote from the cafeteria.

Such equipment suggests the idea of carrying the meal to the customer and would help spread the peak load period, he said.

Many new food products have been developed out of sheer military necessity, and others will be evolved before hostilities cease, Stokes concluded.

WEST POINTERS

CAMP CAMPBELL, Ky.—(INS)—Twenty-two non-commissioned officers and privates of the 9th Armored Regiment of the 20th Armored division, have left here for the United States Military Academy at West Point, where they will instruct the cadets in the tactics of an armored unit.

The men won their assignments through competition with soldiers from all units in the 20th division. They are armored force specialists and graduates of the specialist school at Fort Knox.

LET'S KEEP AMERICA STRONG!

Cultivate the Healthful Habit of Clorox-Cleanliness!

DO YOUR SHARE in keeping America strong. Keep your family strong . . . healthy. For health is the backbone of America's production. Clorox-Cleanliness is an important health protective measure in kitchen, bathroom and laundry germ "danger zones". And Clorox is especially valuable today. For example, take food protection. Clorox makes refrigerators, food containers sanitary, deodorizes them, removes stains, destroys mold . . . reducing risk of food spoilage. In linen conservation Clorox gently bleaches white cottons and linens, (brightens fast colors), removes stains, even scorch, mildew. It also lessens rubbing, prolonging life of fabrics, makes them fresh, sanitary. And, too, Clorox has the approval of health authorities . . . it is used in hospitals and in Public Health sanitation . . . an added proof of its value in home health protection. Cultivate the healthful habit of Clorox-Cleanliness in your home. Use Clorox according to directions on label. There's only one Clorox . . . ask for it by name.

WHY TAKE CHANCES! "When it's CLOROX-CLEAN it's hygienically clean!"

BACK IN ARMY

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA — (INS) — Oldest soldier in length of service in heavy bombardment units in this area is 50-year-old Master Sergeant John Lukowski of Coral Gables, Florida.

He has been on active duty since 1912, and at present is line chief for a B-24 unit.

After service in the infantry and Tank Corps, "Pop" Lukowski transferred to the air corps in 1923. He was on retirement furlough when war broke out, but volunteered for active service.

'WOODEN SHIPS AND IRON MEN'

Sail-Boat Era Returns as War Makes Demands For Cargo Ships.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The Constellation, a four-masted schooner, formerly a treasure hunting yacht, is being fitted in New York as a cargo ship.

"They had to come back," said Capt. Harry P. MacDonald, of Nova Scotia, who will take her to sea. "They had to fall back on the old wooden ships and iron men."

MacDonald, a gaunt and storm-blown sea dog of 46 years' experience, began his career at the age of 11.

"When the Constellation sails" he said, "it will be her first voyage since 1936, when the millionaires turned her into a pleasure yacht and went treasure hunting. They used to call her the gold ship.

"Down East," the captain went on, "they're all watching this experiment. They want to know if it's worth the capital to sail the old wooden ships again. It's because of the subs."

The Constellation displaces 916 tons and her overall length is close to 200 feet.

"Modern ships are no good," the captain concluded. "These are the real ships. What I can't do with one of these can't be done."

STICKLER FOR DETAILS

BRYAN, Tex. —(U.P.)— An officer at the advanced flying school here demonstrated both an appreciation of practical values and strict compliance with a request for completeness of reports. This is the report he entered as officer of the day: "At 5:30 a. m. made routine check of yard and guards. While on tour I found a cat and brought it to headquarters building to catch mice."

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

Bill Burry was reflecting back on the last war and what the boys used to do when they got a furlough.

"We weren't a hard-drinking bunch particularly, but that was in Prohibition," said Bill, "and forbidden fruit always seems worth goin' after. We'd hunt up a bootlegger, which was easy, and buy a bottle.

"So, instead of a beer or two, well—I guess we generally drank too much! . . . wonder what the boys are doing this time?"

I got out the official report the Office of War Information made and read him this: "The fact that there is vastly less drinking among soldiers in this war may stem in part from the sale of beer in camps."

From where I sit, it certainly doesn't look as if we had to worry about our boys. We learned our lesson in the last war, and I'm glad to see we're on the right track now.

MISS MARY LEE FRANCIS WEDS HAROLD HAMMER

Ceremony Read By Rev. Herman Gilbert In St. Paul Lutheran Church; Newlyweds Leave City for Short Wedding Trip.

REV. HERMAN GILBERT read the nuptial service, Tuesday night, that united in marriage Miss Mary Lee Francis and Harold Richard Hammer, at the St. Paul Lutheran church at 8 o'clock.

The bride was given in marriage by her father before an altar banked with cut bouquets of spring flowers. Illumination was furnished by tapers in seven-branched candelabra at either side of the altar.

For her wedding, the bride selected a floor-length gown of crepe taffeta fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. The full skirt extended into a long train. Her veil of finger-tip length was edged in lace, and attached to a beaded crown. The bride's only jewelry was a gold locket, a gift of the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet was of white roses

Mrs. Jerry Strine, matron of honor, wore a blue chiffon gown, the skirt of which gathered from a wide band at the waist. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Theresa Hammer, wore a pink chiffon gown fashioned similar to that of the matron of honor. Her bouquet was of pink roses.

Ushers were Dave Hammer brother of the bridegroom, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., John Wagnals, the bridegroom's brother in-law, and Al Fendrick and Delbert Poston, friends of the bridegroom

Michael Hammer of this city, another brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue suit dress with white and blue accessories. Mother of the bridegroom appeared in a green flowered crepe frock with which she wore white accessories.

Leo Seybold included "O Promise Me," "Indian Love Call," and "I Love You Truly" with the traditional wedding marches, in his program of nuptial music.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the destination of which was not disclosed, the new Mrs. Hammer was wearing a blue and white dressmaker suit with blue and white accessories. Upon their return, Mr. Hammer will return to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station and Mrs. Hammer will continue residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs J. H. Francis, Lincoln Heights.

Mrs. Hammer is a graduate of Madison high school She is employed at the Page Dairy company.

Mr. Hammer is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Hammer, 263 Auburn street.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect of Lt. D. R. Arbaugh

Miss Marjorie Ann Maglott, bride elect of David Arbaugh, was feted Wednesday night by friends at a personal shower given in the home of Miss Mary Denig, 344 Altamont avenue.

During the evening, guests made a bride's book. Miss Maglott's gifts were presented to her in large yellow and white umbrella. When luncheon was served a yellow and white umbrella with an arrangement of spring flowers centered the refreshment table. Favors were miniature umbrellas in the same colors used in the centerpiece.

Miss Maglott and Lieut. Arbaugh will be married tonight in the First Methodist church by Rev. E. G. Corwin. Lieut. Arbaugh's parents reside in Lewisburg, Pa. Mr. and Mrs Harvey Maglott of Bellville are the bride elect's parents.

Committee Has Dinner Meeting

Members of the Moosehearт committee of the Women of the Moose served a covered dish dinner recently at the home of Mrs George Lehner.

Patriotic decorations were used on the table. Following the dinner a business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Lehner. Final plans for the chapter night program were made.

Cards were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. George Wise, Miss Margaret Kraus, Miss Marie Moore, and Mrs. William Beer. Mrs. Wise and Miss Kraus were guests at the meeting.

At the close of the evening the hostess served a two course luncheon. The next meeting will be a dinner party at the Staiger Tea room The time will be announced later.

Iron the Kinks Out of Spine

RIGHT: Stand straight. WRONG: Don't stoop.

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Beauty Editor.

Dear Housewives:

Now that so many maids have gone to war work and your own spare time has vanished, you need your energy more than ever.

Good posture in household work is an important way to conserve energy It means being conscious every minute that your body is balanced. It doesn't mean just standing up straight

The fundamental principle of good posture is of course to keep the back straight, shoulders back and the abdomen pulled in.

To test yourself, a good exercise is to lie flat on your back on the floor making sure your waistline touches the floor, and your tummy is pulled in. It will take a little effort to keep the waistline flat on the floor but if you do this every day it will make you more conscious of your posture, and will give you maximum benefits

Most women bend over with their backs arched while doing even the simplest tasks dusting, for instance. The proper way is to keep the back straight and reach out with the arms When dusting near the floor, however a squatting position is best Never bend over to the object, this pulls the back muscles and is a common cause of backache.

When working at the sink or stove, or while ironing, keep weight on both feet and the back straight. Many women find ironing a difficult task only because they arch their backs and keep all their weight on one foot, a common cause of fatigue.

If you watch your posture, you'll find that you will feel and look better and have the extra energy you need when your husband suggests a big evening out after a day of household tasks.

Hedges Mothers' Club Has Final Meet of School Year

Mrs Harry Downs was named as president of the Hedges Mothers' club when members of the club held its final meeting, and election at the school. Others who were named as officers are Mrs. Virgil Carver, vice president, Mrs. Albert Warga, secretary, and Mrs. John Moran, treasurer.

Following a short business meeting, the program chairman, Mrs. Burton French, presented Mrs. Grant Wagoner and her daughter, Miss Carol Joy Wagoner, who gave a xylophone duet. Miss Wagoner also sang 'Little Lady Make Believe."

Miss Marilyn Yarman, accompanied at the piano by her mother Mrs. Russell Yarman, sang "Out In the Meadows."

A tap dance was presented by Miss Carol Thierlein. Vocal selections were sung by Miss Shirley Dune, Miss Molly Gore and Robert Nixon.

"She Saves, Who Sews" was the title of a moving picture, shown by Glen Robinson

Refreshments were served late in the afternoon at a long table centered with yellow tapers and an arrangement of spring flowers. Mrs. Joseph Penrose, the past president, and the new president poured Those on the refreshment committee were Mrs Eugene Boling, Mrs. Harold Harres, Mrs. Barrett McLaren, Mrs. John Loren and Mrs. Penrose.

Group Holds Regular Meet

Mrs. Catherine Butler, West Fifth street, was hostess for a covered-dish dinner held by the Disabled American Veterans auxiliary. The table was decorated in red, white and blue. The centerpiece was a cake decorated in the patriotic colors with the D. A. V. letters in the top. A short business meeting was held at which time Mrs. Butler was appointed historian and Mrs. Mabel Watkins, hospital chairman.

The next meeting will be at Memorial hall June 22. Final plans for a family picnic will be made at that time.

Mrs. Emma Emminger led the devotions. The president, Mrs. V. L. Divelbiss, presided over the business meeting. The circle voted to sponsor a rummage sale in September. Mrs. Milo Patterson gave the review from the study book.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and the associates, Mrs. Andrew Heidinger and Mrs Pittenger. The hostess for the June 17 meeting will be announced later.
